A VERY HARMONIOUS SESSION

The Speeches Were Brief, and the Balloting Was to the Point.

THE SUPREME COURT NOMINEES

After the Selection of a State Central Committee and Settlement of the Proxy Dispute, the Convention Adjourns.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., Sept. 5.—The convention met at 10 A. M., Chairman Stiles in the chair.

The Second United States Cavalry band were again on the stage, and gave a ten-minute concert before business was taken up.

On motion of Geoghegan, the reading of the minutes of yesterday's proceedings was omitted.

Nominations for lieutenant-governor were first in order, and the roll of the counties was called for that purpose.

The call of Clarke county brought Geoghegan to his feet to nominate Captain C. M. Holton, of Yakima, whom he pronounced to be an old soldier with a clear record, and a pure, unsullied reputation.

Okanogan county produced Mr. Romaine, who eulogized ex-Lieutenant-Governor C. E. Laughton, formerly of Nevada, and nominated him.

Grimes of Klickitat seconded this nomination, and pledged his county's vote.

Bowen of Wahkiakum said that mountain ranges did not divide friends, and that the southwestern corner of the new state greeted the northeast corner, and would welcome Charles E. Laughton as lieutenant-governor.

A delegate, who didn't give his name, nominated Dr. G. V. Calhoun in a short, earnest speech, and another one, equally reticent, seconded it. After he got through, it was learned that McBride did the nominating and Clarke the seconding.

Taylor of Walla Walla nominated W. P. Gray, of Franklin county.

The balloting proceeded as follows:

First ballot—Whole, 298; necessary, 150; Laughton, 153; Calhoun, 122; Holton, 23; Gray, 14; no choice.

Second ballot—Whole, 298; necessary, 150; Calhoun, 148; Laughton, 146; Holton, 4; no choice.

Third ballot—Whole, 298, necessary, 150; Laughton, 151, Calhoun, 145; Holton, 2. Laughton was therefore nominated, and on motion of Lesh, of Yakima, the nomination was made unanimous.

Laughton was loudly called for and came on the stage. He said that there were times when words were inadequate to express the emotions. He had the most profound thanks to offer for the great honor conferred on him. He simply wished to say that in recognizing the great Northeast, as they had done, they had recognized a section that, unless all the mining signs failed, would soon pour into the lap of Washington a stream of bullion, such as was hardly dreamed of. He declared his allegiance to the doctrines of the republican party, and pledged his time and his talents to those doctrines and to their success.

Dr. Calhoun was called to the stage and said: "Gentlemen of the convention, by your votes you have decided that I shall remain where I have for twenty-five years, a private in the ranks of the republican party, ever since Lincoln declared that this country could not exist half slave and half free. I thank the gentlemen who have supported me. I was never a kicker gentlemen, and I bow to the will of the convention, and will do all that one man can to secure the election of the ticket nominated by this convention.

Geoghegan presented a resolution proposing a system of delegates and alternates for future conventions; referred to the committee on platform and resolutions.

SECRETARY OF STATE.

The nomination for secretary of state came next.

Dorr, of Columbia, nominated Hon. O. C. White, the present territorial secretary, and Ormsby, of Walla Walla, seconded him.

Cosgrove, of Garfield, nominated Adjutant-General Ross G. O'Brien, of Olympia.

Clarke, of Jefferson, nominated Hon. Allen Weir, of Jefferson, and McBride, of Skagit, and Wm. Dunbar, of Klickitat, seconded.

Sol Smith, of Klickitat said a good word for O'Brien, when his turn came.

Then they went at the balloting again:

First ballot—Whole number, 298; necessary to a choice, 150; Weir 148, White 109, O'Brien 4.

Second ballot—Whole number, 298; necessary, 150; Weir 103, White 45, O'Brien 1.

Weir was declared the nominee, and being called on for a speech, said he was thankful that he had no speech ready. There were some sour grapes in Eastern Washington, and some very sweet ones. He thanked them all for their votes, and promised to do his best if he should be so fortunate as to be elected to the honor and the office of secretary of state.

STATE TREASURER CAME NEXT.

Bier, of Clarke, nominated A. A. Lindsley, after making a bright little speech without naming his man until just as he was sitting down. The convention, with a big laugh, reminded him that he had been praising somebody without calling his name.

Gray of Franklin seconded, and so did a man from Klickitat county, who doubtless had a name, but kept it entirely concealed. There was no other name mentioned, and Lindsley was nominated by acclamation, with a "whoop and hurrah."

Lindsley was called for and said he thought he was the temper of the convention to get on with the business, and he thought the most pleasing thing he could say would be to move to proceed with the order of business. This he did, to the manifest satisfaction of the crowd, who cheered him loudly.

AUDITOR.

For the next office, that of state auditor, Hon. John F. Gowey, of Thurston county, nominated T. M. Reed, of Olympia. There were no other nominations, and on Geoghegan's motion, Reed was nominated by acclamation.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

For attorney general, Feighan, of Spokane, nominated W. C. Jones, of Spokane, and Sullivan, of Pierce, seconded. So did another delegate from Whitman, and one her from Lincoln, and another from Douglas, and another from Chehalis, and the "whole of Franklin county" did likewise; so did Colonel Haines, of King, and the desire to nominate Jones appeared so evident that an attempt was made to nominate him right there. Business principles prevailed, and the roll call was finished. Then, there being no other nomination, Jones was unanimously nominated.

Upon reaching the man, Jones said modesty was one of the most charming graces of youth but he nevertheless acknowledged feeling proud of the treatment he had received from this convention; proud to be unanimously nominated in a republican convention of 298 delegates; proud to stand upon a platform of such sound republican doctrine, such good common sense, and such straight business principles; proud to stand there in such good company. He thanked the convention for the honor, and made his bow and an excellent impression at the same time.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

For superintendent of public instruction, Emerson, of Chehalis, nominated R. B. Bryan, of Chehalis, and Colonel Haines seconded.

Wickersham, of Tacoma, was recognized by the chair in a fit of good-natured absent-mindedness Wickersham not being a member of the convention and having no right to attempt to speak.

Feighan, of Spokane Falls, withdrew Professor Turner, who had been recognized as a candidate, in favor of Bryan.

A Whatcom delegate nominated Professor Swim, but the result of the ballot showed that the remark of a delegate, that "he wasn't in the swim," came pretty near being right.

These are the figures: Whole number, 298; necessary, 150: Bryan 250, Swim 48. So Bryan was declared to be the candidate, and the man who nominated him asked that it be made unanimous, which was done.

COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC LANDS.

Geoghegan nominated Lewis Sohns.

Fouts, of Columbia, nominated Major J. S. Truax, and he was seconded by Haines of King, and Paine of Walla Walla. Kellogg, of Lewis, nominated Hon. W. T. Forest, and he was seconded by Nikan of Pierce, Allen of Douglas, and Brown of Spokane. The ballot was as follows: Whole number, 298; necessary, 150: Forest 151, Truax 126, Sohns 21, and upon the motion of Geoghegan the nomination was made unanimous.

Winston, of Spokane, said the next business was the nomination of supreme court judges, and that ought to be done with gravity. He moved a recess until 1 o'clock.

An attempt was made to fix the hour at 2 o'clock, but it failed, and Winston's motion prevailed.

The convention took a recess until 1 o'clock.

ELMORE SCOTT, of Garfield.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Nomination of Five Candidates for the Supreme Bench.

In the afternoon the Second cavalry band opened proceedings, as usual.

Chairman Stiles called the convention to order at 1:25 o'clock.

The Whatcom delegate with the concealed name, moved that all speeches this afternoon be limited to three minutes, in view of the desire of delegates from Western Washington to leave for home to-day; so voted.

The formation of a state central committee to follow the nomination of judges, the chair explained the method of selection and asked delegates to be ready with their nominations.

Nominations for five supreme court judges were taken up, and the roll of counties called.

Wells, of Adams, nominated R. O. Dunbar, of Klickitat, and this was seconded by delegates from Skagit, Pierce, Walla Walla, Spokane, Lewis, King, Klickitat, Yakima, Clarke and several others.

Calhoun, of Skagit, moved to suspend the rules and nominate Dunbar by acclamation, and this was done with a shout and immense enthusiasm.

Dunbar was loudly called for, but declined to make a speech, and merely returned his thanks.

Derr, of Columbia, nominated for second judge on the list Hon. E. Scott, of Garfield.

This nomination was seconded by delegates from King and Garfield.

Calhoun, of Jefferson, nominated Hon. Elwood Evans, of Pierce county.

Mr. Evans said that the delegates from Pierce county had agreed to act as a unit. He was not the choice of that delegation, but that delegation was a unit for Theodore L. Stiles.

Colonel Haines, of King, spoke briefly of the importance of the office, and the duty of a judge of the supreme court, and ended by nominating Hon. John P. Hoyt.

Wingate, of Pierce, announced that they seconded that nomination. So did Spokane, Thurston, Klickitat, Clarke, Chehalis, San Juan, Mason and other counties.

Whitman of Tacoma wanted the rules suspended to make Hoyt's nomination by acclamation, but this was not done.

Sullivan of Pierce said that heretofore when the roll had been called the answer had been uniformly "no candidate," but now they had a candidate, and it was the honorable chairman of this convention, Theodore L. Stiles.

Colonel Haines heartily endorsed Stiles's nomination. So did Messrs. Evans, Cosgrove and delegates from Lewis, Clallam, Skagit, Spokane, Thurston, Whitman and others.

Calhoun, of Skagit, nominated Hon. B. F. Dennison.

Tidpath, of Spokane, nominated Hon. J. Z. Moore, of Spokane, in a brief, forceful speech.

Messrs. Lindsley, Howlett, Haines, Winston and others seconded this nomination, Howlett and Winston in particular eulogizing Judge Moore to the highest degree.

Crowley, of Walla Walla, nominated T. J. Anders, of Walla Walla, and this nomination was enthusiastically received and seconded by Evans and delegates from half a dozen other counties.

Neill, of Whitman, nominated Mark A. Fullerton, and Klickitat and Pierce counties seconded him.

Winston moved that four candidates be voted for from this list, and that the four candidates having the highest number of votes being a majority should be elected.

Cosgrove declared that there was not a mathematician in the convention that could figure that out, but there seemed to be a good many who were willing to try, for the convention adopted Winston's proposition.

Cosgrove continued to declare the impossibility of the scheme, but the chairman's gavel brought him to a halt, and they proceeded to a ballot, with the following result:

Adams county—Scott 1, Hoyt 3, Stiles 3, Moore 2, Anders 2, Fullerton 1.

Asotin—Scott 3, Hoyt 3, Stiles 3, Anders 3.

Consequently Hon. Theodore L. Stiles (256), Hon. John P. Hoyt (240), Hon. T. J. Anders (196) and Hon. Elmore Scott (151), received the nomination, and these, together with Hon. R. O. Dunbar, nominated by acclamation, make the five names required for the ticket for judges of the supreme court.

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

The next order of business was the formation of a state central committee.

Wells, of Adams, moved to change the order of procedure, and make up this committee with one from each county and three at large, and argued in favor of this method.

Sol Smith wanted one only from Western Washington, one from Central Washington, and one from Eastern Washington, but he got no second.

Wells's motion was adopted, and the roll of counties was called, each county naming its member as follows:

Adams, S. A. Wells	Columbia, J. A. Kellogg
Asotin, E. Baumeister	Cowlitz, C. Callahan
Chehalis, I. W. Divilbiss	Douglas, John Roble
Clallam, ——	Franklin, W. P. Gray

For delegates at large and chairman, the Whatcom delegate nominated Thomas Cavanaugh, ruled out of order.

Sol Smith moved that the chair appoint three members at large.

Gray of Franklin wanted the governor to appoint one, the chair one and these two the third; not adopted.

Smith's motion was then adopted, and the chair said he would consult and try to have the names ready to announce to-morrow morning.

REPUBLICAN IDEAS.

How Wilson and Ferry Were Nominated Wednesday Night.

THE SPEECHES OF THEIR FRIENDS

And the Responses They Made in the Way of Acceptance.

THE HATCHET HAS BEEN BURIED

The Platform a Well Written Document, Which Should be Carefully Read by All—The Proceedings in Detail.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., Sept. 5.—Following is a complete report of last night's proceedings. Owing to the lateness of the hour it was crowded out for a summary:

The convention met in the evening, Chairman Stiles in the chair.

A telegram from Seattle, asking for help in carrying on the war against whisky, was read and referred to the committee on resolutions.

A communication from the O. R. & N. Co. was read, announcing that the delegates would receive return tickets at one-fifth the regular fare, and this announcement was received with enthusiasm.

A telegram of greeting from the republican state central committee of California was read, as follows:

"The republican state central committee of California send greeting to the republicans of the state of Washington in this, their first assemblage, in nominating convention, wishing them God speed and triumphs under and by those principles which were sanctified by Lincoln and upheld by Grant, Sherman, Garfield and Logan.

W. H. DIMOND, Chairman."

On motion of Graves of Spokane, Chairman Stiles was authorized to send an appropriate response.

THE PLATFORM.

A Long and Well Written Document, That Should Be Closely Read.

The next order of business was the report of the committee on platform and resolutions, but that committee was not ready, and the convention patiently waited for a quarter of an hour.

Hon. John F. Gowey, chairman, appeared on the stage and read the following report from that committee:

As the delegates of the republicans of Washington in convention assembled, we congratulate our fellow citizens upon the success of the republican party in securing the admission of our commonwealth into the Union in spite of the strenuous and long continued opposition of the democracy, whose leaders feared that the addition to the voting strength of the nation of the free and progressive commonwealth of the Northwest would render of no avail the Jacobinism and fraud by which a free expression of political opinion in the Southern states is prevented, and by which the democratic party hopes again to secure control of the national government. In thus congratulating our fellow citizens, we urge all independent voters to unite with us in support of the party to which the admission of Washington into the Union is due, and in rebuking the party which has always opposed the political progress of the Northwest.

We heartily commend the wise and statesmanlike administration of President Harrison, which, by the pursuit of a vigorous and consistently American policy in dealing with affairs at home and abroad, has already endeared itself to the people, and we invite a comparison of the record of this administration with those of the last democratic administration, whose foreign policy consisted in bullying weak nations and truckling to strong ones, and whose domestic policy was well set forth in a free trade message, pension vetoes, and an order for the return of the rebel flags captured by the soldiers of the Union.

The many resources of Washington require the fostering care of protection for their speedy development. The doctrine enunciated at Chicago in June, 1888, by the national republican party received the indorsement of the people of Washington by nearly 800 majority. With renewed faith in their truths, we emphatically affirm those cardinal principles and again commend them to the electors of Washington for their approbation. We fully realize that in order to be efficacious in the highest degree, a protective tariff must be subject to frequent revision, but we insist that such revisions shall be made by the friends of protection, and not by its enemies. We reject the fallacious idea that a tariff should be levied for revenue only, and denounce the democratic party for its recent attempt to force into full competition with the pauper labor of Europe and Asia the intelligent American workingmen employed in more than 100 lines of industry. We assert that the republican party of right stands before the workingman of Washington and absolute free trade in all the important products of the commonwealth, and we invite those workingmen to unite with us in sending to congress men who are friends and not enemies of American labor, practical men and not theorists, protectionists and not free traders.

We believe that the debt of gratitude which the nation owes to the soldiers, sailors and marines who saved the Union is too great to be repaid, and we are heartily in sympathy with all legislation which has for its object a recognition of the services or an alleviation of the sufferings of those grand men who carried the flag to victory.

We favor liberal appropriations for the improvement of our rivers and harbors, for irrigation and the reclamation of our desert lands, for the erection of coast defenses and for the creation of a navy in keeping with the strength and greatness of the American people. We favor also any well directed legislation which has for its object the restoration of the American merchant marine to a position in which it will command its due share of the carrying trade of the world.

We pledge the co-operation of our congressional representatives with those of the state of Oregon to secure the speedy opening of the Columbia river to navigation.

We are opposed to the formation of trusts or combinations whose object is to raise abnormally the price of the necessaries of life, and we believe that it is the duty of the government to prevent the formation of such combinations by all needful legislation. We recognize it as a duty of the government to stand between the people and the unjust use of corporate power, and to this end we believe in the policy of regulation of railroads and other corporations by law.

We demand the rigid enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act, and heartily favor such further legislation as may be deemed necessary in order to put a final and effectual stop to immigration of all who are unfit for American citizenship and unable to comprehend the fundamental principles of our government.

We believe it to be the duty of the state to provide a rigid system of inspection of mines and factories, to the end that the lives of employes shall not be needlessly endangered.

We recognize the right and duty of labor to organize for its own protection, and heartily sympathize with every movement which has for its object the moral, material or intellectual advancement of any portion of our fellow citizens.

The reader was frequently interrupted by applause. The declaration of adherence to the principles of the Chinese exclusion act was loudly applauded, and one delegate shouted, "Hurrah for Tacoma; no Chinese!"

Geoghegan moved the adoption of the report as the platform of the convention; adopted.

We indorse and reiterate the declaration in the last national platform, that "The first concern of good government is the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of the home. The republican party heartily sympathizes with all wise and well directed efforts for the promotion of temperance and morality."

We are in favor of a liberal expenditure of public money, to the end that the people may have cheap and ample postal facilities.

We favor the speedy adjustment of the vexed Bering sea question, and pledge our delegation in congress to use every effort to protect the settlers in all their rights, and to favor the forfeiture of all unclaimed land grants.

We favor the adjustment by the national government of the claims presented by the pioneers of Washington because of losses sustained by Indian depredations.

We favor such legislation with regard to the tide and school lands as will best protect commerce, and will insure the largest possible permanent fund to the state.

We favor the opening to settlement of all Indian reservations in the state, having a due regard for the rights of the Indians.

Believing in the will of the majority, we indorse the action of the constitutional convention in submitting to the electors as separate articles the subjects of prohibition and woman suffrage.

We heartily indorse the administration of Governor Miles C. Moore. In conclusion, we invite the voters of the new state to cast their lot with the party which saved the Union, and not with that which sought to destroy it; with the party which freed the slave, and not with that which strove to weld his shackles more firmly; with the party which upheld the credit of the nation and not with that which favored repudiation and dishonor; with the party which cares for the widows and orphans of the soldiers of the Union, and not with that which makes light of their services and their memory; with the party which stands for protection to American labor, and not with that which is marshaled under the banner of free trade; with the party which secured the admission of Washington into the Union, and not with that which bitterly opposed the extension to our people of the ordinary rights of citizens, with the party which represents the principles of Washington, Hamilton, Webster, Clay, Lincoln, Garfield and Grant, and not with that which represents the principles of Cobden on the one hand and of Calhoun and Davis on the other.

The republican party invites all who favor honesty in government, freedom in thought and progress in material welfare.

THE NOMINATION OF WILSON.

Speeches for the Successful and the Defeated Candidates.

The next order of business, as announced by the chair, was the nomination of a candidate for congress.

Graves of Spokane moved to adjourn to 10 A. M. to-morrow; lost by a tremendous "no."

Smith of Klickitat moved that the roll of counties be called and each county, if it has any candidate to name, make its nomination as its name is called; adopted.

Secretary Clarke called the roll.

When Clarke county was reached Bier of Clarke, in a brief speech, nominated Hon. R. O. Dunbar, of Klickitat. He declared it unnecessary to go into all the details of Dunbar's life and history; he was a worker who had grown up among us, and for twelve years, in sunshine and storm, he had been found fighting for republicanism, and his labors were written on the statute book of the territory and in the constitution which is now before us for ratification. Washington will in time be the bright particular star in the constellation of states, and there is no better man to represent it for the first time at Washington than R. O. Dunbar.

Ettinger of Whitman promised a republican majority from Whitman for Mr. Dunbar, and seconded his nomination.

ALLEN WEIR.

Clarke of Jefferson (when that county was called) said that no office that this convention would nominate for is more important than that of representative to congress, and with pleasure he wished to nominate a man well known to most of the delegates present, well qualified, of broad and liberal mind, of experience in public affairs, for fifteen years in Washington territory, and weighed in the balances for all that time as a true and sound republican and not found wanting as a man of character, his honorable standing is accepted by all those voters who ask that character shall be a prominent factor in a candidate. Such a man was Hon. Allen Weir, of Jefferson county, and he nominated him, promising that if nominated he would be elected, and when elected he would serve his constituency honestly and satisfactorily.

When Klickitat was called a delegate, whose name was asked but who was too intent on his speech to give it, seconded Dunbar's nomination.

SPOKANE NOMINATES WILSON.

When Spokane was called, P. H. Winston came forward and said: "When we face an occasion like this it makes the blood of patriotism tingle. The world cannot produce a counterpart of this glorious day. Twenty-five years ago a new declaration of independence was formulated, which declared that slavery should never again dominate this country, and we are enjoying the fruitage of that declaration. Whoever represents this great commonwealth at Washington will occupy a position second to no other man on that historic floor. Upon what principle then shall we proceed in making this nomination? Shall it be from the center of mining, milling, agriculture, railroads and business? Then Spokane is that center. If it be from the center of population, then Spokane county has 30,000 inhabitants and a taxable property of $16,000,000. If it be from a center of republicanism, then Spokane has a thousand republican majority at its best. If it be on the grounds of character, then Spokane presents the son of an American soldier of three wars, a representative in three congresses, and who finally fell asleep in a foreign country as an ambassador for the United States, and that son has come among us and identified himself with us, and never faltered in his republicanism, and last year he took the banner of his county and went all over this territory, contributing notably to the great victory which we won. You will nominate him, and he will elect himself. I refer to Hon. John L. Wilson, of Spokane. [Applause.]

The roll was called through and no other nominations were made.

Before the vote Colonel Howlett moved that all members of the late constitutional convention who were present be invited to seats on the stage; so voted.

Congrove of Garfield moved that all the candidates nominated come upon the platform and pledge themselves to support the ticket nominated by their convention. This motion was drowned by such a loud "no" that it was not pressed or put.

MR. WILSON'S SPEECH.

Dunbar Follows in a Humorous Acceptance of His Defeat.

Loud calls for Wilson brought that gentleman to the stage, where he was received uproariously. He spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention and Fellow-Republicans: I am profoundly sensible of and profoundly grateful for the distinguished honor you have conferred upon me. In the first place, I desire to thank from the bottom of my heart those who have honored me with their votes and those also who have given me an honorable opposition on this floor. The republican party may well be congratulated upon what lies before it. In a few short days the state of Washington will take her place in the galaxy of states, and go forward for universal rights, universal duties, and universal happiness.

I have always been a republican—by heritage, by birth and by conviction. I believe and hope always to see that the supremacy of that party is essential to the well being of this country. It is a party that has maintained its character for over a quarter of a century, tainted with the faults of the age, but still ahead of the age; following the lead of Lincoln; "With malice toward none and with charity for all." He, more than any other, has shown the youth of the country how to climb the ladder whose foot is on the ground and whose top is in heaven. The republican party is never so great as when engaged in a great conflict. It was born in the great contest of slavery. We are soon to enter another contest with our great enemy, and we are still for protection, protecting the ballot box from crime; protection to the man who is entitled to cast one vote and have it counted; protection to the homes, the families and the soldiers.

Pathetic politicians tell us that the republican party has accomplished its work. Never! while the democratic party exists, nor while a monopoly exists, nor until every man, white or black, native or foreigner, can walk abroad with all his civil and political liberties. [Applause.]

I place myself unconditionally on your platform, believing that it is the truth about the whole business. [Applause.]

Forewell, my friends. The limited time of the campaign will prevent me from seeing many of you again, but there is not a breath of my body nor a pulsation of my heart that is not for the progress and well-being of this great country of ours. I thank you all, and wish you good night.

ALAS FOR JOHNNY KENNEY.

Hon. R. O. Dunbar appeared on the stage in response to loud calls, and after the applause had subsided spoke as follows:

Gentlemen and Fellow-Republicans: You ask me to stand up on this platform, and I do so—stand on this physical platform and upon the political platform which you have just adopted. There are times when a man don't like to make a speech. [Laughter.] A Missourian wrote on a tombstone: "Here lies poor Johnny Kenney. Have mercy on him, oh God, for he would have mercy on you if he was God and you were Johnny Kenney." [Laughter.] I am like the boy who was hurt too bad to laugh and was too big to cry. [Laughter.] You can prevent my being your candidate and standard bearer, but you cannot prevent me from being a true republican. Those sentiments and principles cannot be torn from me by any convention. They are almost my religion, for they embody principles of speech, of press, of thought, and what is more, of freedom of the American ballot.

This is an important period with us; the eyes of the nations are turned upon us. When our star is placed upon that field of blue, let us see to it that that star is untarnished by democratic success. [Tremendous applause, and three rousing cheers and a tiger for R. O. Dunbar.]

Hon. Allen Weir was called for and came upon the platform, and when the applause had subsided, said:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I am not going to detain you with a speech, for you want to go to business. I have at no time been a "candidate to hurt," and have had no speech prepared, for I didn't expect to have to use one. But I have always been a republican since I was old enough to vote, and I am proud to congratulate the people of Washington on the honorable gentleman who is to be our candidate, and on the fact that his distinguished services and ability are to be with us in this campaign. I can recommend him to the voters of Washington as a man eminently worthy to receive their votes, and there will be rolled up such a majority for John L. Wilson as will startle our democratic friends. We shall nominate a ticket that will be invincible, and I pledge you my support for that ticket. You can not deprive me of my republicanism nor the privilege of working for that ticket from now to election day.

FERRY FOR GOVERNOR.

An Eloquent Plea for Kinnear—Other Nominating Speeches.

A motion was made to adjourn, which failed—yeas 147, nays 151. Nominations for governor were then in order, and the roll of counties was again called.

King county being called, Colonel J. C. Haines advanced to the front, remaining on the floor, in spite of loud calls for him to take the platform. He said:

"In obedience to the unanimous wish of the republicans of King county, in convention assembled, it is my pleasure to nominate a citizen whom you delight to honor. He was a soldier, whose record was made in three years of service. When the call came, he was a student, but he enlisted as a private, and marched to the music of the Union, and his heart has been keeping time to it ever since. He was at the bloody scenes of Stone river, and with Thomas at Chicamauga, with Hooker at Lookout Mountain, with Sheridan at Missionary Ridge. On Kenawha mountain, of eighty men who went in, only fifteen came out, and he was one of them. Within seventy-five feet of the Rebel works they lay on the ground and threw up breastworks with their hands, and fought from them until the enemy retreated. At Peach Tree creek he helped Colonel Harrison place a brigadier's star on his shoulder. With Sherman he marched to the sea, and when at last he marched up Pennsylvania avenue, he still wore the faded blouse of a private soldier, and carried the rifle which shot, as his vote has ever been cast, against democratic treason. That musket he has, and it is more dear to him and to his children than the scepter of a king. He returned to his books, and later was one of those who helped Garfield sweep in victory to the national capitol. He turned his face to this fair land, with no charter of authority in his pocket; but as he enlisted a private soldier, so here as a private citizen he has fought the battle of life with us, and carried the banner of republicanism to victory. In legislative halls and in the constitutional convention his hand is felt on your laws. He hails from the banner republican county. I do not present him as coming from the largest delegation here, nor because he was a soldier, nor because he has been a legislator, but I urge his nomination because he is a man who stands among men peerless, without a stain on his shield, whether as a soldier or as a representative, and because if that name be placed at the head of the republican ticket it will sweep the state, and this campaign will be as glorious as Sherman's march to the sea, and its music as inspiring as the strains of 'Marching Through Georgia.' Gentlemen, I place in nomination Hon. John R. Kinnear." [Tremendous applause.]

A motion to adjourn was here made but was shouted down, and the chairman did not put it.

Crowley, of Walla Walla, seconded Kinnear's nomination. He was a faithful soldier, and in the halls of legislation he would be a statesman who looked always for the interests of the people, able, earnest, conscientious and worthy of anything at the hands of the people of the state. He will lead us to victory, and we shall have a governor eminently satisfactory in all the walks of life.

GOVERNOR FERRY.

Klickitat county produced Colonel Smith, who put in nomination "the peerless son of King county, Governor Ferry. [Immense applause.] Here is a candidate whose name you may always be proud to hear; a man who never proved false to his word or to a duty, who has carefully guarded your interests, and who, I believe will be our candidate for governor, and receive the largest republican majority ever given in this territory." [Cheers and applause.]

Wells, of Adams, seconded Ferry's nomination. He believed this was an occasion when we must choose between the republican and democratic party. We should nominate a man upon whom there is no taint, who comes to us with clean hands and of known executive ability. Governor Ferry has proved himself to be all this.

Ormsbee, of Walla Walla, took pleasure in also seconding that nomination, and said that when Walla Walla voted she would give something more substantial.

Gowey, of Thurston, said Governor Ferry had lived eleven years in Olympia, and that county claimed him as a resident of the whole state, and would give him her support.

Mills of Whitman followed in the same strain, saying that in so doing that county was paying a debt of gratitude for Ferry's services. In the Indian war of 1877 he sent word: "I am coming with men and ammunition." [Cheers. Whitman will pay that debt by rolling up such a majority as never a republican received yet.

Kline of Whatcom wanted Ferry's nomination made by acclamation, but that was out of order.

F. Campbell of Pierce announced that his county wanted to be considered as the friend of Governor Ferry, and the convention received this statement with immense cheering.

Whitson of Yakima, presented the name of Colonel Howlett in a very brief speech, claiming for him greatness by reason of his simplicity, integrity and honesty, and prophesying for him popularity in the state, as he had it in Yakima.

Small of Walla Walla, seconded the nomination of Howlett.

The roll was then called and Ferry was nominated on the first ballot by the following vote, and it was afterwards made unanimous.

THE HATCHET BURIED.

Kinnear and Ferry Shake Hands, Amid Great Enthusiasm.

Ferry was called for and appeared on the stage. Then followed such a scene as reminded one of the scenes at the national conventions, with cheers, waving of hats, and men standing up and shouting wildly for a full minute. Governor Ferry was radiant, and his smile was large and contagious. He said:

"I didn't imagine that I had so many friends in the whole territory. I find that my services as governor, though I do say it, were appreciated by the old settlers and by this convention, and I return you my profound thanks. To be the first governor of the new state of Washington, for I believe I will be, [Cheers] fills the measure of my ambition. My democratic friends may think I am counting without my host, but I believe every nomination made by this convention will be elected by a [illegible] majority. [Applause.] I will not make a long speech, but I cannot refrain from calling your attention to the importance of this election. Upon our actions in this election may depend the supremacy of republicanism in the nation, and so I say to you, if there are to be trades, sacrifice your governor and save the legislature. Let not the democratic party succeed in getting that."

Kinnear was received with applause, and assured the convention that he would stand upon the platform [illegible]. He was always a republican, a soldier when a school boy, and had voted as he shot. He would support all the candidates of this convention. He had come here as the unanimous nominee of his county convention, [illegible] but now he would heartily support Governor Ferry, as he had already said he would if he should be nominated, and stand by the grand old party and help make it what he believed it would be, triumphant in October.

THE HATCHET BURIED.

The dramatic incident of the evening followed when Ferry [illegible] to the front of the stage, and shook hands [illegible] the yells of delight of the [illegible] crowd.

Colonel Howlett was called for and appeared for a moment, to say that everything he could do for the Yakima county would be done to elect this ticket, and that as his votes had been very short, his speech should be equally as short. To be so honorably mentioned in this convention was a great honor to him, and he took satisfaction in the good repute in which his neighbors held him, which led them to bring him forward. He then made his bow and retired, to enter the arena of hard work for the republican party.

This ended the evening's proceedings and at 10:45 the convention adjourned to 10 A. M. Thursday.

SOUTH DAKOTA DEMOCRATS.

Nominations Made by the State Convention—Platform Adopted.

HURON, S. D., Sept. 5.—The democratic state convention adopted a platform endorsing and upholding free trade, opposing constitutional prohibition, sympathizing with labor organizations and pledging assistance to them, favoring a minority representation and arraigning Dakota republicans for extravagance and mismanagement in territorial affairs.

The following nominations were made: Governor, P. F. McClure; lieutenant governor, A. W. Pratt; secretary of state, Otto P. Miller; auditor, J. E. Horton; treasurer, A. D. Hill; attorney general, H. Fellows; superintendent of public instruction, G. H. McFarlane; commissioner of public and school lands, H. S. Volkmar; supreme judges, S. B. Buskirk, C. H. Winsor and D. McLaughlin; congressmen, L. O. Jeffries and S. M. Booth.

A dispatch from Pierre says that Colonel McClure will not accept the nomination for governor.

THE NEW MEXICO CONVENTION.

Drafts of Two Competing Constitutions Submitted Yesterday.

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 5.—The announcement of the standing committees and the adoption of the rules constituted the chief work of the state convention to-day. The preliminaries are now practically done with, and the delegates are settling down to earnest work.

Two complete constitutions were presented to-day, and their various subjects were referred to the appropriate committees. The delegates intend completing their labors in two weeks, as they receive no pay for their services, and most of them have to neglect their personal affairs.

One of the constitutions presented to-day is almost identical with that adopted by North Dakota, and the other draft is by F. W. Clancy, of this city. It covers but seventeen pages of legal cap, but is pronounced by those who have examined it as a very able document and remarkable for simplicity and conciseness.

Columbia County Politics.

DAYTON, W. T., Sept. 5.—The democrats held a county convention here yesterday and the following nominations were made: Dr. E. H. Van Patten, senator; A. H. Weatherford and W. T. Barnes, representatives; N. Z. Ellis, clerk; delegates to the state convention, N. D. Norman, J. E. Edmiston, M. M. Godman, A. B. Thompson and Cyrus Davis. The democrats are elated over their ticket. The election promises to be a hard and close fight.

The republican convention has nominated Hon. R. F. Sturdevant, of Dayton, superior judge. The nomination meets with the general approval of republicans.

THE BURLINGS SUIT.

Arguments Begun Yesterday—Frauds Perpetrated by Sharon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—The arguments were begun to-day in the case of Mrs. Leonide H. Burlings, administratrix of the estate of her husband, against Frank G. Newlands and Frederick W. Sharon, trustees of the estate of the late William Sharon.

The attorney for the plaintiff declared that the suit grew out of the gross frauds practiced by the late William Sharon when he swore in the suit of Treadwell against the Bank of California that there never was any such partnership as that of William Sharon & Co. He said that the facts showed that Sharon owed the Ralston estate over a million and a half dollars, and that he cheated that estate out of that sum and all of the trust estate confided to him by Ralston, besides getting the better of Burlings for $200,000, which they paid to him on account of the stock of the Bank of California, handled by Burlings for Ralston, and which Sharon said was criminally over issued.

THE WRECKED ANCON.

A Report That the Treasure Has Been Saved and That Most of the Cargo Will Be.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—A telegram was received from Captain Wallace, of the lost Ancon, by the agents of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company to-day that the $50,000 in treasure which was on the steamer had been recovered and forwarded to San Francisco by the steamer Mexico.

It is now confidently believed that the greater portion, if not all, of the cargo of salmon will be saved. The salmon was well insured.

The Ancon will be replaced by the iron screw steamer Corona, which was built by Cramp & Sons and brought out here last year. She is now on her way to San Francisco, having left Port Townsend a few hours before the news of the loss of the Ancon was received by Goodall, Perkins & Co. The Corona has been running on the Alaskan route with the Ancon during the summer.

SERIOUS CHARGES

Brought Against Captain Healy, of the United States Ship Bear.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Alfred Holben, Otto Dawelts and Roy Frandzen, members of the Coast Seamen's union, made affidavits before Notary Public Lyons to-day, charging Captain Healy, of the United States ship Bear, with taking them from the bark Estella, which was discharging coal into the Bear in Port Ounalaska, June 23, 1889, and compelling them to do duty on board the Bear. When they asked to be returned to their vessel they were ironed, inhumanly treated and afterwards put ashore to shift for themselves.

It is stated that Holben will commence action against Captain Healy for damages and also petition the treasury department for his removal.

A TRAFFIC AGREEMENT

Between the Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 5.—An evening paper prints the statement that a traffic arrangement has been consummated between the Santa Fe and the Union Pacific, whereby the latter company is to use the California Southern line from Barstow to this city, thus securing an outlet to tide water on the bay of San Diego. It is stated that the Union Pacific will complete its line between Frisco, Utah, and Barstow within eighteen months.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

Indications of Victory for the Strikers of London.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—There was a break in the ranks of the employers this morning, when five wharfingers agreed to the terms demanded upon their wharves, and work there is now going on to the full capacity.

At the other wharves the men have congregated in large numbers ready to go to work at a moment's notice. Wharfingers have all been reported as ready to make terms with the strikers.

All the other affairs all along the Thames are much livelier than for weeks past. Men who obtained work contributed one day's pay to the relief fund.

John Burns has declared that the dockmen have given the dock companies a crushing blow between wind and water.

Australians have sent £40,000 to aid the strikers.

The dock companies again called upon the police to protect their men.

The shipowners made another appeal to be allowed to unload their ships themselves but were met with a curt refusal. It is stated that 20,00 men are at work.

A WILD JAIL BREAK.

Desperate Encounter Between a Jailer and His Prisoners.

KNIVES AND REVOLVERS USED.

The Plucky Officer Frightfully Slashed With a Razor—The Desperadoes Caught and Threatened With Lynching.

SEATTLE, Sept. 5.—A desperate attempt was made to murder Day Jailer Patrick Farraher this morning, at 8:15, by the prisoners in the county jail. The jailer was attacked and severely wounded with a razor in the hands of one of the prisoners, and was also kicked and pummeled by others.

Two of the prisoners, Barney Martin, James Davis and Charles Clark, got outside the jail grounds. Davis was shot while getting over the fence, and the three prisoners were captured a few minutes after they had escaped.

The affair caused the wildest excitement, and there was danger at one time that the incensed citizens might lynch the desperadoes, but cooler counsel prevailed.

It is the daily custom of Jailer Farraher to take four trusties and go to Sheriff McGraw's after the breakfast for the prisoners. This is brought to the jail, and the trusties dish out the meals to the prisoners. The side corridors of the jail are unlocked, and the prisoners stand in a row to receive in turn their breakfast, which is given to them in tin plates. As each is served, he steps to the rear of the line.

This morning the prisoners were receiving their breakfast, as usual, and Jailer Farraher was standing close to the door of the south corridor, while the trusties were passing victuals to the prisoners. Several had been served, when it came to the turn of Highwayman Chas. Clarke. As he stepped forward to receive his allowance, he suddenly threw red pepper into Jailer Farraher's eyes. The highwayman's aim was not good, and only one eye got the benefit of the pepper. The other eye received a little, but not so much but what the jailer could see out of it.

Farraher at once saw that an attempt would be made to break jail, and he quickly grabbed Clarke by the throat with his left hand, and reached down his right for his revolver.

Burglar Barney Martin, who was next in the line behind Clarke, drew a sharp razor from his pocket and caught hold of and began slashing the jailer, with the evident intention of cutting his throat. Highwayman James Davis also grappled with Farraher, and it is said a fourth person, who it was the jailer does not know, also assisted the three murderous ruffians in their deadly assault.

Though it was evident that the four ruffians intended to murder the jailer, not a single one of the twenty-two prisoners in the corridor stirred a hand to assist him in his dire extremity.

During the struggle Martin plied his razor vigorously. The unfortunate jailer got his pistol in position to pull the trigger, and at that juncture it was knocked out of his hands. During the melee a hat fell over it, and in the intense excitement of the moment it lay there until the whole thing was over.

Farraher was slashed across the nose, and his cheek was laid open.

When Martin, on two or three occasions, put the razor up to his throat to cut it, Farraher desperately caught hold of the blade and it was rudely pulled through his hands, and the result was that both hands were fearfully cut. The right thumb was almost severed from the hand, and a cut extends clear across the palm of the left hand.

There are also numerous minor cuts.

Finally the ruffians became alarmed by the cries of the jailer, and broke away and ran, opening the jail door with keys taken from the victim's pocket.

Every one of the prisoners was caught before getting a block away, Clarke being shot in the shoulder.

Martin is a desperate burglar and opium fiend, and Clarke and Davis were arrested Tuesday morning, after holding up half a dozen people on the streets.

It was feared that the prisoners would be taken from jail and lynched, and such a move may be made to-night. It is not likely the police would make strong resistance.

FROM OLYMPIA.

Local Comment on the Nominees at the Walla Walla Convention.

OLYMPIA, W. T., Sept. 5.—The nomination of Hon. E. P. Ferry for governor gives general satisfaction here, and a large republican majority may be expected from this county on the first of October.

The nomination of Hon. T. M. Reed was fully expected, as he is well known in every county in the territory to be particularly adapted to this office, being a man possessed of rare financial ability and wisdom, while the integrity of his character and reputation is unsurpassed.

Much surprise was evinced over the nomination for superior judge for this district, as there were three or four candidates from this city. Mr. Mason, however, the successful nominee, is a gentleman of considerable ability, and if elected will no doubt fill the position with credit. He is a son-in-law to ex-Governor Newell, of this city, and his residence is in Montesano, Chehalis county.

The nomination of Mr. Weir for secretary of state is also a source of pleasure to the citizens of Olympia, where the gentleman has many warm friends.

A special school tax of 3 mills has been levied by the directors of school district No. 1, and a valuable plot of property has been purchased by the directors in the eastern part of the city for school purposes.

Rev. Mr. Habersham is visiting friends in this city.

The new hotel is assuming immense proportions, and bids fair to be one of the finest hotels north of Portland.

FROM TACOMA.

The Wrecked Ancon, It Appears, Was a Rotten Old Vessel.

TACOMA, Sept. 5.—Allen C. Mason, in an interview to-day, states that the hull of the steamer Ancon was in a very bad condition. The wood was rotten and broke away in pieces. Had he known as much about her record and condition as he has since learned, he would never have allowed his family to go aboard of her. She was not safe when she left Tacoma, and has not been for a year or two past. The statement that she was unsafe was made by old sea captains to THE OREGONIAN correspondent over a year ago.

A division of the Order of Railway Conductors will be instituted here to-morrow.

Charles E. Stackpole, correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer in this city, had his left arm badly sprained and the elbow cap injured by being thrown from a horse this morning.

Sheriff Price has a number of the prisoners in the county jail subsisting on a bread and water diet, to compel them to divulge the names of the ringleaders in the late attempt to break jail, but so far all of them have refused to speak.

THE O. P. FOUNDRY BURNED.

Loss, About Ten or Fifteen Thousand Dollars.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 5.—Last night about 10:30 the Oregon Pacific's foundry at Yaquina City was discovered on fire, probably catching from the great heat in the moulding room during the afternoon and evening. A bucket brigade was promptly on hand, and by hard work succeeded in saving the machine shops and adjoining buildings. The foundry was entirely burned, entailing a loss to the railroad company of $10,000 to $15,000. The fire caused considerable excitement, and at times it looked as if there would be a general sweep of things. The cupola, coke oven, etc., were not damaged.

FOR THE PRACTICE MARCHES.

A Detachment of Troops Leave Vancouver for The Dalles.

VANCOUVER, W. T., Sept. 5.—A detachment of forty men of troop F, Second cavalry, under Captain Swigert, left here this morning for The Dalles by the Bonita, in charge of tentage and other heavy stores to be used by the troops of the department in their practice marches beginning a week hence.

Salem Notes.

SALEM, Ogn., Sept. 5.—The Brons Manufacturing Company filed articles of incorporation to-day with the secretary of state; object, to deal in logs, lumber and building material of all kinds; principal place of business, Portland; capital stock, $20,000; Peter Brons, George Armstrong and C. J. Smith, incorporators.

J. R. Haddoc, of Roseburg, was committed to the asylum to-day. He is 24 years old. He is very boisterous, makes noises like animals and refuses to take medicine.

Mrs. Salme Brower, of Roseburg, was also brought to the asylum to-day. She has reached her 77th year, and has been of unsound mind for the past fifteen years. This is her second commitment.

The governor appointed George T. Hussel, of Oakland, and T. B. Potter, of Portland, notaries public to-day.

Sheriff Croisan and W. H. Goulet, of Woodburn, were thrown from their buggy while out riding to-day, and were slightly injured. The buggy was demolished. Mr. Goulet struck on the side of his head, injuring him considerably. Croisan was scratched and bruised, but not severely. Goulet is recovering all right this evening.

The city council this evening granted a franchise to a new street railway which is intended to be built to the penitentiary.

Deputy Minto brought to the asylum this evening Mary Brown, the crazy woman who jumped into the river at Portland this morning.

Attempted Suicide.

McMINNVILLE, Ogn., Sept. 5.—Joseph Willis, late of Canada, about 70 years old, attempted to commit suicide at his son's residence, four miles west of here to-day, by cutting his throat with a razor, making two cuts on the left side and one on the right, each time touching the carotid artery. He has been suffering for some time with dropsy, with no prospect of recovery, which is supposed to be the cause of the rash act. He has several sons living near him and one in Astoria.

Captain Beecher Buys a Steamer.

PORT TOWNSEND, Sept. 5.—Captain Beecher has purchased the steamer Point Arena for the Sound route. She sails from 'Frisco to-day.

Kidd's Cough Syrup costs a quarter. Will cure coughs, colds and sore throat.

nates all future conventions. The committee had been unable to meet. The resolution was read, and Sullivan, of Pierce, moved to lay it on the table; lost.

Sol Smith moved to allow the vote of absent delegates to be cast by the balance of the delegation present, [illegible] and the resolution was changed accordingly. The roll was called and the resolution was adopted by yeas [illegible], nays 30, as follows:

WHEREAS, The question of proxies has [illegible] a [illegible] in the [illegible] conventions of the territory, and [illegible] avoid [illegible] in the future, therefore be it

Resolved, That all future calls for [illegible] state conventions shall contain a request that each county or district convention shall elect alternates as well as delegates, and that the representation in state conventions shall be by duly elected delegates or their alternates only. [illegible] a delegate and his alternate are both absent, the delegation shall cast the vote.

On motion of the Whatcom delegate, a vote of thanks was extended to the chairman and officers of the convention.

A Lincoln delegate moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft a vote of thanks to the citizens of Walla Walla.

On motion of [illegible], this was changed to a vote of thanks right here, and the convention gave it with a wild howl of delight.

On motion of [illegible], of Snohomish, the thanks of the convention were extended to the members of the press. The band was included in the motion at somebody's suggestion, and somebody else thought the janitor ought to come in also, but the convention had to draw the line somewhere, and they drew it at the janitor.

At 3 P. M., on motion of Howlett, the convention adjourned sine die, but to meet at the polls on the first Tuesday in October.

THE CAPITAL QUESTION.

One of the incidents of the meeting at Walla Walla of the convention is that North Yakima has been ever present and omnipresent with a delegation of jolly, good-humored citizens with their headquarters, and with a showing that has made an impression. It seems now, as the convention adjourns and the people go to their homes, that North Yakima is decidedly in the lead for the capital. They have presented their claims and discussed the matter in a modest yet effective manner, and when North Yakima carries away none of the honors on the state ticket, it is generally conceded that her representatives have done much towards fixing in the minds of the people here assembled the superior advantages of North Yakima for the capital.

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

John F. Gowey, of Olympia, has been made chairman of the state central committee, and H. W. Fairweather, of Sprague, vice chairman. The three committeemen at large are Colonel C. G. Lyons, of Seattle; Ed J. Stier, of Tacoma, and H. W. Clarke, of Spokane Falls. Gowey will take charge of the country west of the mountains, and Fairweather east of the Cascades.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Jennie S. Chamberlain, daughter of Mr. Chamberlain, of Cleveland, Ohio, was married to-day in St. George's church to Captain Herbert Nayor Leland. The presents included a brooch in the shape of a horseshoe, studded with diamonds and pearls, to the bride, and a diamond ruby pin to the groom from the Prince of Wales.

Collision of a Steamer and a Yacht.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—During a dense fog this morning the steamer Providence of the Fall River line, while coming down East river, collided with Gerry's yacht Electra. The bowsprit of the Electra caught just aft of the wheelhouse of the Providence, and tore out the stanchions and floor of the middle deck and left the interior of a couple of the staterooms exposed. No one was injured, although there was considerable excitement on the Providence and several ladies fainted.

Cold Weather in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 5.—During the past twenty-four hours the thermometer has fallen 30 degrees, 42 being registered this morning. Quite a cold snap has been experienced all over the Northwest, culminating in a severe frost at Cheyenne. As the wind is veering round to the south, a warmer spell is looked for. The fact that migratory birds are rapidly leaving to the southward, is considered to augur an early winter.

235 FIFTH ST.!!

Result of an Investigation by an "Oregonian" Reporter.

For the past two years the daily press of this city have been recording the many strange and wonderful cures performed by Drs. Darrin at 235 Fifth street. From curiosity to learn something of the doctors and their method of treatment, we concluded to visit their parlors. We found their rooms filled with patients suffering from almost every conceivable form of disease, and much to our satisfaction, upon interrogating a number of those present, their answer was unanimous that the doctors were rapidly dissipating their ailments. A number of persons who had not yet seen the doctors, were anxiously awaiting their turn. An old man, just arrived in the city that morning from east of the mountains, was speaking of the hard time he had to find the office. At last, said the old man, I enquired of a small boy on the street where 235 Fifth street was. The kid spoke up and brightly answered: "Oh! you want to see the Drs. Darrin, do you? I know where it is. The other day they cured my ma, who had been lame two years with rheumatism." As the old man had finished his story, the doctor came into the room with a young man whom he introduced as William F. Hasenborg, residing at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Washington streets, recently from California, and who had just been successfully operated on for strabismus. His eyes had been badly crossed since a child, and in one short, painless operation the eye was perfectly straightened. The reporter gathered several names of parties cured, who had no hesitation in giving their reference.

Mr. J. R. Cunningham, of Wapinitia, Or., was cured, some days ago, of almost total deafness, in a few treatments, which was considered by himself and friends almost a miracle.

Judge Kalahan, of Kalama, W. T., had four large tumors removed from his ear, where they had been growing for twenty-five years, and was very high in praise of the doctors.

Among the most enthusiastic was Dr. McDowell, of this city, who was relieved of muscular prostration of the back and lower limbs, and also of a disease of the eye. He had exhausted his own knowledge and practice in his case, and was finally persuaded to try the electric treatment.

There were scores of others, too numerous to mention. Drs. Darrin are not charlatans or deceivers. They practice upon well known scientific principles, and the multitude of cures they have performed, and are constantly effecting, is a full and ample refutation of any and all charges of "quackery" which may be made against them who are envious of their successful practice.

Drs. Darrin's Place of Business.

Drs. Darrin can be consulted free at 235 Fifth street, corner of Main, Portland. Office hours, from 10 to 4 o'clock daily; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. All curable chronic diseases, loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhœa, stricture, spermatorrhœa, seminal weakness, or loss of desire of sexual power, in man or woman, catarrh and deafness, are confidentially and successfully treated. Cures of private diseases guaranteed, and never published in the papers. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctors' office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.

JUDGE FIELD'S STORY.

Testimony Given by Him at the Trial of Deputy Neagle.

THE REPORT OF MARSHAL FRANK

Fears Entertained for Judge Field's Safety, and a Constant Guard Kept—The Close of the Trial Expected To-day

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 5—Justice Field was the principal witness examined in the Neagle case to-day. He briefly detailed a number of occurrences previous to the killing of Judge Terry, including the decision that he had rendered against Mrs. Terry a year ago, and the affair in the courtroom at that time which resulted in Terry and his wife being imprisoned for contempt.

In relating the tragedy at Lathrop last month he said: "Deputy Sheriff Neagle and myself entered the dining room at Lathrop for breakfast and soon after taking our seats Judge Terry and wife who were on the same train, entered the room and as they passed down the aisle Mrs Terry glanced at me for a moment and then turned about and left the place. Judge Terry seated himself but arose immediately and came towards me. Before I realized what he intended to do I felt a powerful blow on my cheek. I turned around and saw Terry's giant form towering over me with his clenched fist upraised. I then heard Neagle say, 'Stop that. I am an officer' then heard two pistol shots in quick succession and saw Terry fall to the floor. I was dazed for a moment, but soon realized that Terry had received a death wound, and I arose and left the room"

Justice Field, replying to a question, expressed the opinion that if Neagle had not shot Terry, he, Field, would have been dealt with in the next five seconds. He said that the expression of Terry's face when he raised his hand to strike the second time could not be mistaken. It was full of malice and murder.

Justice Field declared that he had never had any difficulty with Terry of any nature whatever prior to the rendering of the judgment in the Sharon case a year ago. In fact, they had always been on the most friendly terms. Terry had often tried cases before him and on entering the court had always spoken to him pleasantly. During the last year or two however, he seemed entirely changed and to have lost the respect which he formerly had for the courts.

Justice Field added that the story of his having asked Terry to support him for president several years ago was a pure fiction.

As he left the witness stand, the justice remarked that he was sorry that there was no one on the other side to cross-examine him.

The case will probably be concluded to-morrow, when Neagle himself will be examined.

JUSTICE FIELD CONSTANTLY GUARDED

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 5—The friends of Justice Field are still alarmed for his personal safety. He is closely guarded night and day and the deputy marshals are constantly on the alert. He is escorted to the circuit court room every morning in a close carriage by a body guard while a couple of deputies are on duty in the corridors of the appraisers building looking out for any one who might be suspected of assaulting the associate justice. He is surrounded in the court room by watchers and the knob of his door at the Palace hotel is never out of the sight of one or more detectives.

MARSHAL FRANK'S ACCOUNT

His Official Report of the Events Leading Up to the Terry Killing

WASHINGTON, Sept 5—In an official report to the department of justice, under date of August 21st, Marshal Frank says that in obedience to the instructions of the department, he had constantly exercised the utmost caution for the protection of Justice Field and Judge Sawyer from violence by D S Terry and wife.

Of the assault in the dining room at Lathrop Marshal Frank says, "Terry struck Justice Field twice before Deputy Marshal Neagle interfered. Terry was a man of very large physique and of great strength. His passions were apparently beyond his own control and he was most ready with a knife the weapon which he himself declared he had habitually carried for thirty years. Neagle is a man of slight build and well knew Terry's violent character and skill with weapons. When he saw good reason to believe that Terry, far from being deterred by the official warning to stop was desperately determined to take the life of Justice Field and his (Neagle's) own life, Neagle prevented it in the only way any reasonable person conversant with the facts will pretend that he could have done. It was clearly shown that there was not two seconds between Justice Field's life and the shot from Neagle's pistol that saved it."

Accompanying the report are a number of exhibits containing information in connection with the tragedy and subsequent proceedings. One of them is a pamphlet giving a recount of the contempt proceedings before Judge Sawyer in September 1888, when Marshal Frank says, Terry desperately resisted his officers, flourishing a knife and endeavoring to do violence notwithstanding that the pistol of Deputy Taggart was leveled at his head. 'He was then,' says Marshal Frank "overpowered by a number of men. At Lathrop he had every advantage and was on the point of completing his desperate enterprise with only Neagle and Justice Field to oppose him."

Another exhibit is Judge Sawyer's narration of the facts attending the gross insults to him by Mrs. Terry on the train between Los Angeles and San Francisco August 24 1888, while in company with her husband which has been greatly exaggerated by Mrs Terry's account of it.

The judge says that Mrs Terry merely twitched his hair, where I was short, as she passed him in the aisle of the car and that no one but himself, Mr and Mrs Terry and a Mr Cowles noticed the action. Later on the trip, the judge says, Mrs. Terry contemplated an assault upon him with her parasol but was deterred from attempting it by the presence and attitude of two passengers, to whom Judge Sawyer had spoken of the hair pulling incident and requested them to observe the future actions of the Terrys closely.

In a subsequent letter Marshal Frank denies the statement of certain papers that Neagle was of the "killer or border ruffian type and asserts that his reputation was that of a peaceable, law abiding man but one of much courage, which has been proven on several occasions.

A FORTUNATE AMERICAN

He Obtained a Monopoly of the Mining Business in Bolivia

BOSTON Sept 5—G H Fall a Boston lawyer has just returned from a trip to Bolivia and brings information concerning the work that has been accomplished there by W H Christy, a Boston man.

About four years ago Christy came into possession of the Londres mine which has since proven to be one of the richest in the world. The diggings comprise 25 per cent of copper and 75 per cent of silver the latter averaging from 200 to 2000 ounces per ton.

Christy has also come into possession of eight lead mines and the only coal mine in Bolivia. The coal that has been heretofore used in Bolivia has been brought from Chili and elsewhere and sold to the merchants in Bolivia for $2.0 per ton. The development of Christy's coal mine, which appears to have no limit as to quantity will bring a much needed relief to the merchants who now expect to get their coal for $20 per ton which will allow Christy a handsome profit. Already there are 500 miners at work in the coal and lead mines.

The Bolivian government in consideration of what Christy has done and what he proposes to do has given him the exclusive privilege of melting in the republic for fifteen year, and any mine owner with smelting to do has to have it done by Christy.

THE HAMILTON CONSPIRATORS

Inspector Byrnes Thinks He Has a Complete Chain of Evidence Against Them

NEW YORK Sept 5—Inspector Byrnes's chain of evidence against the Robert Ray Hamilton conspirators is now complete. The last link is in the identification of the $10 baby by the midwife who sold it.

Joshua Mann told the inspector to-day that Mrs. Hamilton showed him the will that her husband had made in her favor. It provided in the event of his death that all of his money, family jewelry and plate should go to her and the child and that she was to be the custodian of the child until she became of age. Ray once fell from his horse and broke his leg, she remarked to Joshua. "He may fall again and break his neck and then Joshua I will marry you." To the mind of the inspector this indicates that Eva was not married to Mann.

The inspector will not give the name of the mother of the bogus baby. He says she is and was when the child was born, a married woman moving in good society.

HAMILTON DESERTS HIS WIFE

ATLANTIC CITY N J, Sept 5—Conclusive evidence that Robert Ray Hamilton has deserted Mrs. Hamilton was developed to-day. This morning a man presented himself at the door of the Noll cottage and asked to see Mrs Ruph. The audience was denied him by the special officer who is on guard at the house. After a few words the officer walked around to Justice Givings's office and the two returned to the cottage.

The stranger then produced the proper credentials, also a letter addressed to Mrs Ruph.

I read: "Please let the bearer Mr Edward R Vollmar, have my property in your possession including trunk, clothing, gun case and box of saddles etc. Yours truly

ROBERT RAY HAMILTON."

After a delay the justice granted the request. Besides the articles named in the letter, several pieces of jewelry and photographs were in the custody of Mr Ruph. The only portion of Moore that was found after the explosion was one toe.

THE OLD LOG COLLEGE.

An Interesting Celebration in Bucks County, Pa.

PRESIDENT HARRISON PRESENT

He Spoke Briefly to a Crowd of 25,000 People—The Exercises During the Afternoon—A Memorable Event.

PHILADELPHIA Sept —The "Old Log" College celebration, under the auspices of the presbytery of Philadelphia North began to-day on the old Tennant farm near Hartsville, Bucks county. It was on the college was originally located. The farm is twenty miles from Philadelphia.

The exercises of the day were fully commemorative of the founding of the Presbyterian church in the United States. The Log College was established in 1 26 by William Tennant, and flourished in 174 when Princeton college was founded. It may be said that Princeton was instituted from the primitive college established by Tennant.

President Harrison and Postmaster-General Wanamaker were present, having driven from Wanamaker's country seat this morning a distance of eight miles. Farm houses along the route were decorated. Tents had been erected on the Tennant farm and an immense crowd from the surrounding country and Philadelphia, including prominent Presbyterian divines from all over the country, were present.

The programme arranged was divided into two parts, and opened with religious services.

At 11 50 the president and Mr Wanamaker entered the large tent and were given a most enthusiastic welcome. They took seats on a raised platform and as soon as the party were seated the first paper of the day was read by Rev D K Turner of Hartsville descriptive of the founding of the Log College and the useful career of its founder. He was followed by Rev R M Patterson, of Philadelphia editor of the Presbyterian, who delivered an address on the "Log College evangelist."

Rev Dr Murray, of Princeton college delivered an address and was followed by Rev Dr McElvane president of Hampden Sydney college Virginia on the influence of Virginia and the log college in the South."

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S SPEECH

When President Harrison rose to speak, the 25,000 persons present cheered him repeatedly.

He said in part: "I thank you for your hospitable treatment of me and mine to-day, but I must say I have much pleasure in being here for every impulse of honest pride which stirs your hearts moves mine. I am glad to stand here at the source of a great government. I have seen the Mississippi river pouring out its enormous flood to the gulf, and I have had the pleasure of standing at the source of the great Missouri but what is the force and energy supplied by these rushing streams when compared with the movement inaugurated here. [Applause.] I am glad to be here to help celebrate one of those great impulses that spring from a small beginning and is yet how far reaching. Its results and effects I don't want to eulogize the Presbyterian church only and yet I think the histories of us who have been untouched by partisan ... testify that ... have magnificently proceeded onward. Let us take no backward steps let us continue to merit the favor of God and do his work until the world shall cease to move. Steadiness is one of our characteristics. Our earnest ... and ... there are occasions when even that trait and that character has its service. ... my friends continue to be steadfast to the faith, pictured and strengthened in this sacred ..."

At the close of the president's address there was wild ... for ... minutes men and women cheering and waving their handkerchiefs.

All sang "Nearer My God, to Thee," the morning exercises closed at 1 0.

The president and party were escorted to the tent where a bountiful lunch was spread. At the conclusion of the lunch the president and party started back to Wanamaker's.

AFTERNOON EXERCISES

The departure of the president did not seem to lessen the size of the crowd at the afternoon session.

Governor Beaver read an address eulogistic of the Log College and its founders.

Postmaster General Wanamaker spoke briefly, and closed by suggesting the rebuilding of the Old Log College, in form as nearly resembling the original as possible, as a memorial of Tennent. Whitfield and the early ... heroes.

Letters of regret were read from Rev Dr Sam... and Alexander of New York, Rev Dr McCosh, ex president of Princeton college and Governor Green, of New Jersey.

After several other short addresses, the celebration ended at 6 o'clock by the benediction of the benediction by Rev J W Scott the venerable father of Mrs. Harrison, and the most memorable day in the history of Bucks county, and one which will long be remembered by those present was brought to a close.

MEXICAN LEAD ORES

Secretary Windom Declares That No New Policy Has Been Adopted

KEENE N H, Sept 5—Secretary Windom who has been in this city several days with his family was seen to-day in relation to the reported retaliation on the part of the Mexican government on account of the alleged rulings of the treasury department adverse to the importation into the United States of Mexican lead ores, and in regard to the imposition of duties on Mexican vessels.

The secretary after reading the dispatch carefully said that in regard to lead ores this government had not recently entered upon any policy shutting out the products of Mexico. No ruling has been lately made on the subject, except certain instructions to the collectors of customs on the border to prevent a fraudulent importation of Mexican lead ores.

"The question as to the classifications of ores has been for some time pending in the department," said he, "but no decision has been reached in regard to imposing duties on Mexican vessels. The law imposes a discriminating duty of 10 per cent. on goods imported in foreign vessels except vessels of nations with which the United States has treaties on the subject. The president is authorized to relieve the vessels of other nations from that discriminating duty, upon satisfactory proof that such countries do not levy such duties on our vessels as Mexico does. If they do levy such discriminating duties upon goods imported in American sailing vessels there is no power to relieve such vessels of such duty."

The following ticket was selected: For secretary of state, J... H Griffin, comptroller Mr R... F..., of Tonawanda, treasurer G W Bruce, attorney general ... Hart, state engineer ..., A J Kenyon, judge of the court of appeals, W J Harrington.

The platform adopted declares that prohibition of the liquor traffic, state and national, should be the dominant ... political issue until such prohibition shall have become ... recognized and settled policy of the government. The platform further affirms that the right of suffrage rests on no mere circumstance of race color sex or nationality. The law should be so amended as to require ten years' residence for naturalization.

It declares opposition to trusts and monopolies, approves of civil service reform ... applied and holds that, while the government can afford and ought to be just and generous to the honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the republic, the doors of the United States treasury ought not to be thrown open to gratify the desires ... of claim agents and unscrupulous politicians.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, SEPT 6

THE GREAT LONDON STRIKE.

The great London dock strike that has just ended needs explanation The grievances complained of did not arise in connection with the pay of permanent laborers but out of the methods of employing casual or irregular labor A writer in the New York Sun explains the situation fully as follows

In the West and East India docks the contract system does not obtain, but what is called piece work is distributed among the irregularly employed That is to say when the company has undertaken a particular job, such as the unloading of a large steamer, a number of irregulars are taken on for the day by the company's foreman and paid 10 cents an hour As an encouragement to good work, and provided the task has been accomplished at a certain rate of profit to the company, a plus is divided among the members of the gang. To the ordinary workmen this plus averages 1 cent an hour Counting in the plus, the daily earnings of the irregular hands at the India docks have averaged in recent years 8¾ cents. In the London and St. Katherine docks both piece work and the contract system are resorted to In the former case the men are paid directly by the company, and receive 10 cents an hour But half the work of these docks is let out to small contractors, generally chosen from the permanent laborers. This system has naturally led to sweating—that is, to the coercing of laborers by the subcontractors to accept starvation wages. In 1880 the casuals struck against this system. The company yielded, and required the "ganger" subcontractor head of a gang, to pay his hands a minimum of 12 cents an hour It is said, however that this regulation is evaded by secret bribery and corruption.

The ultimatum of the East London strikers was that the contract system should be utterly swept away, and all work given to the "irregulars" must be piece work. The dock companies were willing to grant this demand, as well as the stipulation that no "irregular" shall be discharged until he has had a chance to earn 50 cents but the dock companies at first refused the demand that under the piece-work system the men shall receive a minimum of 12 cents an hour The dock companies refused, because they have hitherto, since 1872, paid but 10 cents and because the plus has not in recent years averaged above 1 cent an hour to each laborer They say at 12 cents an hour there would be not only no plus, but scarcely any profit to the companies "

The strength of the strike was due to the fact that it had the open sympathy and secret support of the shipowners, who deem themselves "sweated" by the monopoly prices of the dock companies

THE FISHERY DISPUTE

The Canadian fishery dispute will come up again when the fifty first congress meets in December The temporary license system provided by the Dominion government until a final settlement should be reached, was adopted in May 1888, and as it was expressly limited to two years will expire in 1890, before the opening of the fishing season next spring. Nothing has been done during these two years of the license system to settle the controversy The fee is $1 50 per ton on the vessel's tonnage and under this license the vessel can buy bait, ice seines, lines and other supplies and outfits can ship crews and trans-ship the catch

Last year only one American vessel was seized by the cruisers, and that was given up to the owners upon the payment of the expenses incurred in holding it. This year there have been only one or two seizures of American vessels.

The schooner Mattie Winship, seized three months ago for fishing within the three-mile limit, has been allowed to go free on the payment of a fine of $2000, imposed in mitigation of the extreme penalty of the law The minister of fisheries, after the giving of a bond for her full value, in case she should be forfeited, recommended that this sum with the costs and legal expenses, should be received in lieu of a greater punishment

These facts would indicate that the Dominion government rather likes the present arrangement than otherwise, and is therefore more lenient to offenders than formerly The license system, however, ends in May next, and before that time we may expect from congress a serious effort to settle the fishery dispute on a permanent basis As it stands now our fishermen have to pay a license fee for what they deem are rights, not privileges, which should go without license and purchase

IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF DISRAELI

The tory party in England is following deliberately in the footsteps of Disraeli, the apostle of political jugglery His plan was to overlook the situation, and when he found the opposition ready with some form ulated reform that seemed likely to gain popular approval, he seized upon the new movement as a part of the principles of his own party and carried it before the English people under the auspices of toryism The ministry of Salisbury now challenges the support of Ireland by the offer to found a university under Catholic management The tories do not seem to realize the glaring inconsistency of the position of the party that supports the Church of England in founding a Catholic university All that they desire is to retain the control of the government It is the opinion of many that this is but the advance movement of the tory party, and that it will be followed gradually by granting home rule to Ireland This will be a great political achievement, but it will rob the liberals of a victory for which they have fought long and bravely and to which they are entitled by all the rules of political warfare

Parnell and his followers will support any party that will compel justice to Ireland This will cause a rupture between the home rulers and the radicals Through the instrumentality of the latter great good has been done the cause of Ireland and much popular sympathy has been gained The world will not blame Parnell for a change of allegiance He is a patriot, whose overmastering passion is the welfare of his country, and he, like Wendell Phillips, of anti slavery fame, will follow any party that will promote the liberty and prosperity of the people for whom he battles

GERMANY VS. UNITED STATES.

The circulation of a recent issue of the Paris Figaro was recently suppressed throughout Germany because it contained an article insulting to the emperor Nothing could illustrate more strongly the difference between freedom in the United States and freedom in Germany than the suppression of this Paris newspaper Even in the height of our great civil war 'Brick Pomeroy was suffered to lampoon President Lincoln daily, not only during Lincoln's life but right after his assassination, when the whole nation was wild with grief and rage. Pomeroy's paper was a large sheet, with a circulation of over 100,000, and yet he insulted our great president with impunity Early in the war a few newspapers were suppressed for discouraging enlistments, but the longer the war lasted the fewer arrests were made While Grant was making his last great campaign, from the Wilderness to Petersburg, the New York World denounced him daily as "a brutal, sullen butcher," and described Lincoln in scarcely less odious terms.

The public speech of the copperhead party of 1864 concerning Lincoln was of the most outrageously insulting character, and yet no arrests were made, and in 1866 Nasby lampooned President Johnson without cessation. The freedom of the press in England is beyond that of any country in Europe. Thackeray's lectures on the "Four Georges" gibbeted George IV, the infamous uncle of Victoria and the cheap newspapers of London in their allusions to the queen and the royal family exceed in vulgarity and ribaldry anything that was ever printed in our partisan newspapers against Blaine or Cleveland While France is nominally a republic, nevertheless her press is not free in the sense understood by the term in England and America There is a censorship of books in England but its exercise is limited chiefly to the suppression of publications deemed obscene or blasphemous The action of the German government at this distance seems to us childish, and still it is not easy to think of so practical a man as Bismarck approving the suppression of the sale of a Paris newspaper without a good reason. Nevertheless there does not seem to be any good explanation for the narrow policy which impelled the emperor of Germany to forbid German participation in the Paris exposition

NATIONAL VANITIES SUPPRESSED

Senator Hawley contributes an interesting article in the current number of the North American Review on the value of international exhibitions, in which he shows that they result not only in permanent benefit to the nations under whose auspices they are held but serve to increase and develop enterprise in visitors Such expositions bring nations into closer relations with each other, exhibit relative superiorities and inferiorities even at the risk of crushing national vanities The centennial of 1876 important and comprehensive as it was in no sense represents the industrial scientific progress of to day or that of 1892

In the track of national exposition progress follows 'as the night the day' Senator Hawley says that in 1851 at the Crystal Palace, 'France felt her inferiority in the manufacture of steel and iron, and by 1855 had made great improvements England thought it a mere spurt for the exhibition till in the exhibition of 1862 she found it genuine" The exhibition of 1867 rudely awakened and thoroughly alarmed England," for she found that France had surpassed her in steam engines at sea and on land also in iron armor and in roll for railway forms buildings and ship frames" In one item alone the whole Western world has felt the stimulus of the exposition of 1876 and that is in the development of the electrical science Electricity in all its varied uses and forms was then in its infancy Now it permeates all avenues of industrial life, a billion dollars are invested in its operation, and it has proven a distinct benefactor to the human race

Mr Edward Atkinson has expressed his ideas upon the proposed 1892 exposition, deprecating in distinct terms the idea of advertising the country or American achievements In criticising the opinions of Mr Atkinson the New York Tribune aptly says 'Human happiness would be greatly increased, the needs of mankind would everywhere be better supplied if all the resources of nature were known to all as they are to some of the race But men do not bring from far off lands the products there known but unfamiliar elsewhere except in the hope of benefiting themselves by establishing or increasing a trade The advertising purpose, which Mr Atkinson seems inclined to disparage is, after all the motive power which operates most effectively to extend the world's knowledge and interchange of its resources" The world takes no step of advance without it every stage advertising the triumphs of man over nature that result in increased comfort and happiness of the human race

The United States, through its citizens must make the exposition of 1892 a true international affair, showing not only the rare progress and development of our own people but must invite the fullest and freest exhibitions from every nation under the sun Thus will the exhibition become world wide in its effect and reciprocal in all its tendencies Let it advance human knowledge in all directions break down ancient prejudices, and establish permanent mutual relations between all the leading powers of the world

As early as 1874, at the Vienna exhibition an Englishman declared 'America seems to defy all Europe to cope with her run with her or overtake her She has the champion display of implements, tools and machinery As it was then so let it be in 1892. It is not unfair to predict that our people will show great strides of progress in all directions

THEY WANT MORTGAGES

The English syndicate with the Barings and Lubbocks at its head will be fully organized for business in the West by the 1st of November, Its agent, E W Thomas, was in Kansas City last week and is now on his way to Washington territory via Denver in the interests of the syndicate The investments of this syndicate will include all sorts of Western mortgages except listed mortgages and the intention is to invest $15 000 000 a year in this line Kansas seems to present an inviting field for these speculators, their agent stating that they will buy everything that they can get in the way of a mortgage on Kansas realty This is a foreign incursion against which law cannot protect the people It is engineered by sharp financiers with unlimited capital at their back, and it brings with it a menace of landlordism of the kind that prevails in the United Kingdom and renders tenants hopeless hand-to mouth livers all of their days The people of the great West should be wise enough, and loyal enough to themselves and to each other to quietly circumvent this proposed conquest of their lands by foreign capitalists by simply refusing to sell out to them They can do it, but it is doubtful if they will

The national conference of charities and corrections will meet in San Francisco the middle of next week The session will last a week, after which a large number of the delegates will come to his city, en route for their homes, and a supplementary meeting will be held here Oregon is just beginning to need wisdom in dealing with matters discussed by this conference, and as it is much easier and cheaper, and far less troublesome and disagreeable to profit by the experience of others in these lines than to map out and elaborate individual plans the coming of these delegates will no doubt be profitable as well as pleasant What to do is a perplexing question in connection with the matters of charities and corrections, what not to do is scarcely less so Experience is a costly teacher and they are indeed foolish who insist upon taking individual lessons paying therefor in time and effort and money when those who have taken a long course are ready and willing to give the benefit of their knowledge free

The nomination of John L Wilson for representative to congress from the new state of Washington, on the third, and E P Ferry for governor of the same or the first ballot by the republican convention on Wednesday evening showed a careful generalship of the contending hosts of republicans in Washington territory Everyone is not pleased, of course but most people believe that Wilson will make an able representative, and all know that Ferry will make a good governor This should settle the matter and insure the election of the candidates.

The election in West Virginia last fall was held under the regulations of the democratic party, which has until recently predominated in that state The contest in 1888 was between General Nathan Goff, republican and Judge Fleming, democrat. The former was elected by a narrow plurality of 110 votes but the defeated democracy conceived a scheme for overturning the will of the people The legislature with its insignificant majority of one on joint ballot appointed an investigating committee controlled by democrats This committee has reported and dishonestly counted out about 250 republican votes sufficient in number to seat Judge Fleming as governor of West Virginia The democrats care little for the justice of their position They will seat their candidate and control the state Though they achieve temporary power by fraud methods such as these will react upon the perpetrators, and permanent power can never be built with political corruption as its foundation This course has been steadily pursued in Southern politics and will end in sweeping the party that follows it from existence It is losing popularity even in the South

The lonely highwayman is wandering but not aimlessly, about in the mountains of Southeastern Oregon By his own unaided exertions he is getting pretty well fixed for the winter having taken $100 from the express bags and $50 from the only passenger of the Linkville stage, north bound the other night, with the result of his exploit with the south bound stage still to hear from Fortune, although it favored him, was still in one sense against him as had there been a stage full of passengers his receipts would have aggregated a much larger sum It was extremely kind of him not to lay an injunction of secrecy relative to his transaction upon the driver and passenger after they reached Linkville They would have agreed to the terms doubtless and worked to make up the deficit in the express cash-box rather than to have pained a gentleman by refusal to comply with his request

The thirty fourth annual convention of the German Catholic Central Society which has just closed its session at Cleveland, is made up of 500 Catholic benevolent societies social in their character and designed to promote the interests of good fellowship and fraternity by methods which are favored by the bishops and priests of the Catholic church in the United States Six hundred thousand persons Germans by birth or origin are entered on the rolls of these 500 societies They are numerous and influential in the Northwestern States particularly in such dioceses as Cincinnati Chicago, Milwaukee, Fort Wayne Cleveland, Green Bay Dubuque St Louis Detroit, and Peoria, also in New York Baltimore Brooklyn, Rochester Newark and Philadelphia The German Catholics now number 3,500,000 in the United States

The manner with which some Southern newspapers refer to Union veterans seems to indicate that chivalry is fast decaying in that section of country The Macon Telegraph speaks of the parade of the Grand Army in Milwaukee as pensioners on parade," and the Charleston News and Courier keeps as a standing head Our Paupers in Blue" This does not look as though the democratic brother has accepted in good faith the result of the civil contest. It sounds like the growl of the cur that dare not approach the mastiff

Texas is too big for a single state It covers an area of 237 321 square miles The magnitude of this can be conceived when it is stated that five states of the size of Pennsylvania could be crowded into Texas Wheat corn, oats, barley, wool coffee tobacco sea island cotton and minerals form a part of her rich productions while in cattle raising she stands second to no other state in the Union As has been remarked she needs mills but not such as Roger Q Mills, chairman of the congressional ways and means committee

San Francisco is soon to have a skating rink the floor of which will be genuine ice To complete the device some one should invent a method to warm the floor without melting it An age that proudly boasts that 'nothing is impossible' should be able to compass a successful combination of summer and winter for the amusement of those who look upon life as a great game and constantly demand new features to make it endurable

The wreck of the Ancon in Northern waters disposes of another steamer that has long been engaged in the Pacific coast trade Though long since outdated by more modern vessels, she was considered remarkably staunch and was a profitable craft to her owners in the work in which she was engaged Her wreck was without loss of human life, and closes a long and eventful record, many incidents of which would, if detailed, read like a romance

City contracts will bear looking after Poor brick used in the construction of sewers and poor rock in street improvements enriches the contractor at the expense of the property owner, and gives the city bad drainage and uneven streets muddy or dusty according to the season The use of old brick and brick of which from 25 to 50 per cent are admitted to be bad is an offense flagrant enough to justify a forfeiture of the contract

A new democratic paper will soon be published in Washington Letters indorsing the enterprise will be published in the first number from ex President Cleveland, Senator McPherson Speaker Carlisle Senator Morgan Secretary Fairchild Representatives John E Russell Patrick A Collins John I Andrew and other prominent democrats The name of the new paper will be the National Democrat

The democratic papers who attempt to cry down the idea that it would benefit trade to grant subsidies to such companies as are willing to build and operate steamships for the foreign carrying trade are probably not aware of the fact that in 1887 Secretary Whitney strongly hinted that offering tonnage bounties would be a good way to build up a merchant marine, that would serve as a reserve navy

The estimated running expenses of New York city for 1889 together with interest on city bonds amounts to a little over $37 000 000 This is not a great sum when it is remembered that both Tammany and the county democracy must 'heel' themselves from the city revenues These two organizations are the dump holes of the spoils system

The people of Helena, Mont. are agitating the question of a water supply It has been decided that the city shall have a good water system but it has not been settled whether the city shall own and control the same or a private company A majority of the citizens seem to favor the former plan

We often hear of Eastern economy in contrast to Western prodigality The latest example of the former that has come to our knowledge is found in the statement that a single stone at Woodville New Hampshire marks the boundaries of two states three counties and four towns

James E. Campbell nominated by the democrats for governor of Ohio is a protectionist who had not the courage of his convictions in congress for he voted for the Mills bill last summer

Olympia puts in a plea for retention of the capital of Washington, and it must be admitted that Olympia is one of the most charming and attractive places in the state

Beecham's Pills cure bilious and nervous ills.

A PARACHUTE JUMP.

Professor F H Redmond to Give the Public Another Free Treat Next Sunday

Professor F H Redmond the aeronaut who gave the free balloon ascension last Sunday, evening, ending in the river will give the public another treat next Sunday

In connection with the ascension the professor will after ascending several thousand feet, jump from the trapeze and descend by means of a parachute The parachute jump is the most daring feat performed by the modern aeronaut It consists of jumping from a balloon at a great height and descending by means of a strip of canvas shaped similar to a large umbrella. In the no lines a successful parachute jump is a novelty Several have advertised that they would make a parachute jump in the past but they have never fulfilled their promises Professor Redmond will make his ascension from the East Side landing of the Jefferson street ferry, No admission fee will be charged to witness the ascension

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

STEAMBOAT FOR SALE.—The handsome and fast steamer Wasco is to be sold next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, by the United States marshal, under a decree of the United States district court in admiralty. The Wasco was built last year to run on the Upper Columbia. But she made only two of three trips, when, partly for want of business and partly on account of trouble in the company which built her, she was tied up. After the death of Judge O. S. Savage, of The Dalles, who was her principal owner, last June, she was brought down over the Cascades to Portland. Here she was libeled by parties having claims against her, among whom were the executors of the late Judge Savage. The steamer is now lying at the foot of Clay street. She is a propeller, 235 feet long, 22 feet beam, 27 feet over all, 281 tons burden, and runs at the rate of 18 miles per hour. She is practically new, in good running order, and well suited for the business either on the Columbia river or on Puget sound.

STONE YARD FOR PRISONERS.—Work was yesterday commenced in clearing away and leveling a patch of ground in the city park near the north end for the construction of a work house and a yard for rock crushing. This is to be a new institution for the special benefit of the city prisoners. The intention is to build a shed where the prisoners can work when it rains. The rocks crushed, will be used in macadamizing the roads and walks in the park. The police department are desirous of putting all the city prisoners at work in this stone yard, but whether this can be done or not, depends upon the city council. It devolves upon this body to build the stone yard and order a large patrol wagon, in which from fifteen to twenty prisoners can be hauled at one time. There is no reason why the city prisoners should not be made to work and earn at least a portion of the money required to feed them, and this stone yard meets with public approbation.

OREGON HONEY.—Judging from a lot of 1650 pounds of comb honey sent in from Silver Falls, Tillamook county, by Clarence R. Jones, there is no difficulty in producing all the honey in this state that can be consumed here. This honey was made from mountain wild flowers and was packed in on a horse over a trail for eight miles. There can be no doubt about it being the genuine simon-pure article, and over in Tillamook the woods are full of it. As the dealer who bought it remarked: "If a man tastes that honey once, he will never want any more California honey." There is a great deal of honey made out on Eagle creek, in Clackamas county, and it is also very fine. A man from that section had a load in yesterday. People should patronize this Oregon honey and thus help on the people who are trying to demonstrate that honey can be produced in Oregon in quantities at a profit.

STRINGING THE WIRES.—Workmen were employed yesterday stringing the trolley wire for the electric motor line across the steel bridge. It is a copper wire about as thick as an ordinary clay pipe stem, and carries the current which, by means of a trolley or grooved wheel held up against it by a stick projecting from the top of the car is conveyed to the motor under the car which drives it. There is a single line of poles with arms of about four feet, projecting over the track up the incline to the bridge, while across the bridge the insulators to support the wire are fastened under cross beams. It will not be long till our citizens will have a chance to ride on cars propelled by electricity, and by and by they will find hardly anything else to ride on.

SOME FINE PICTURES.—Several elegant colored engravings are being prepared for the new weekly Tri Shore. It will be a constant marvel to our Eastern visitors that work of such a high order can be done in this city, as they are accustomed to looking to New York city for everything of that character. To possess such a journal will be something to boast of and Portlanders can point to it with as much pride as they now do to their magnificent High school. It is evident that Portland will receive the greatest benefit from its numerous graphic illustrations, as a great number of its illustrations will necessarily be of subjects in this city, and these will be sent to thousands of people and be displayed on the news stands of every city in the Union.

A BENEVOLENT LADY.—Mrs. R. H. L. Townsend, a New York lady, well known for her benevolence, has been visiting her relatives, J. H. Valentine and F. Dayton, this week. She is accompanied by Miss Nichols, of Brooklyn. These ladies left New York a few weeks ago and are making a tour around the world. They spent last week in Yellowstone Park, and this week have greatly enjoyed themselves in this city. They are much pleased with Portland, and leave to-day for the Yosemite, and soon for Japan. Mrs. Townsend erected at her own expense the woman's annex to Bellevue hospital, and recently built a beautiful memorial chapel there for the use of the patients.

BRADSTREET'S FAILURE STATISTICS.—For the month ending August 31, 1889, there were reported to the Portland office of the Bradstreet mercantile agency, eight failures in Oregon, with total liabilities of $50,121 93; total actual assets, $27,093. In August, 1888, there were nine failures, with total debts of $41,188 94; total actual assets, $13,300. The number of failures reported for Washington in August, 1889, was five; total debts, $17,205; total actual assets, $8585. In August, 1888, there were two failures reported, with total debts of $4428; tota assets, $1960. In the Washington totals for August, 1889, business embarrassments resulting exclusively from fires are excluded.

SHE IS A LONE WIDOW.—Postmasters receive many curious communications, but seldom such a request as a widow of West Virginia, who can furnish the best of references, has sent to Postmaster Roby. She requests that her name and address be handed to some good, kind widower or bachelor who would like to do well, by marrying her. She wants a good, honest, Christian man not under 35. She takes a deep interest in this wild Western country. There are plenty of men here who are over 35, but good, honest Christians if any age are mighty scarce. Any such in need of a widow from West Virginia, can leave their address with Postmaster Roby.

"THE PORTLAND."—The work of cleaning off the outside of the big hotel, painting the woodwork, staining the brickwork and cleaning and pointing the stonework is progressing rapidly. The stonework is much improved in appearance by the cleaning and pointing, and every day adds to the fine appearance of the building. From a distance the steep slate roof of the building, with its numerous dormer windows, towers and chimneys and the brick and stucco walls form a fine contrast. "The Portland" will be a credit to the city, and a hotel of which every citizen will fee proud.

TO ACCOMMODATE THE CROWDS.—Hotels and lodging houses should begin to make calculations for accommodating the great number of people who will visit this city during the fair. There will be no trouble about feeding all who come, but unless some extra accommodation is provided there will be a scarcity of lodgings. Every hotel should provide a number of cots and some large halls should be fitted up temporarily with cots, so that no one need be under the necessity of roaming around all night on account of not being able to find a bed.

THE LAKNE CHARTERED.—The O. R. & N. Co. has chartered the steamer Lakne to go on the Puget sound route with the Michigan and Idaho. The negotiations for the steamer Alki fell through. The Lakne is at Tacoma, and Superintendent Johnson, of the O. R. & N. Co., is going over to accept her. She will probably load coal at Seattle for this place. She has a capacity of 1000 tons—700 under deck and 300 on deck. With three steamers the O. R. & N. Co. should be able to take care of the Sound business for a time at least.

WHAT THE WILSHIRE SAFE AND SCALE COMPANY SAYS:—"Many purchasers of the Chicago Cash Register will be glad to hear that our company has been granted an injunction restraining the National Company, of Dayton, from further bothering us with suits for infringement, and the many who desire to purchase the Bensinger Register can now do so without any further fears of any suit. All who have bought the Bensinger Register with the self-adder have recommended it and are highly pleased with the same."

DISLOCATED HIS SHOULDER.—Mr. G. G. Gammans met with a painful accident Monday evening. A runaway horse fell on the street and Mr. Gammans seized him by the bridle to hold him down while the driver extricated himself. The horse floundered around and in some way jammed Mr. Gammans against a wood pile and dislocated his shoulder. He was carried into Mrs. Hill's boarding house, where Dr. Bevan and Henderson Deady attended to his injuries.

SMITH IS IMPROVING.—The condition of the U. C. & R. T. hackman, Ed Smith, who fell from a second-story window of the stable several weeks since, is greatly improved. For a while it was thought that the leg would have to be amputated, as blood poisoning was imminent, but the rapid disappearance of such symptoms has set all fears at rest. The young man is hopeful, which is another great aid to his recovery.

THE COAST SEAMEN'S UNION.—Thomas Finlerty, manager of the San Francisco Coast Seamen's Journal, "devoted to the emancipation of the entire seafaring class," was in the city yesterday on his way home. He is an agent of the Coast Seamen's Union of the Pacific Coast, and has been to Puget sound on business with the union's agents. He says the union numbers 4500 men and is in a flourishing condition.

THEY ARE BORING DOWN.—The artesian well being bored in the west court of The Portland, is down forty feet. As is usual, in all attempts at boring such wells here boulders are frequently encountered. The drill was banging away at one yesterday, and it sounded as if it was an iron boulder. Getting through these hard rocks causes great trouble and delays the work. The well is to be put down 150 feet.

Y. M. C. A. MONTHLY BULLETIN.—The September number of the Y. M. C. A. monthly bulletin has been published. It is a neatly printed eight-page pamphlet, edited by General Secretary C. W. Beers, and besides the usual announcements and notes of interest to the members of the association, it contains Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage's discourse delivered at the Tabernacle Sunday, August 25.

A WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.—Mrs. Mary Brown, of Albina, a native of Russia, 23 years old, attempted suicide by jumping into the river yesterday morning. Her husband rescued her, and in the afternoon Dr. Josephi examined her as to her insanity. She was declared of unsound mind and committed to the asylum. Her hallucination is that the devil is after her.

HOME, SECOND AND MORRISON STREETS guarantees a perfect fit in his merchant tailoring department.

THE ART GALLERY.—A large number of very choice paintings are on their way here from the East and California, for which space has been secured in the art gallery at the Exposition. The art display at the coming fair will be beyond compare the finest ever seen in the Northwest. There will also be exhibited in the art gallery a collection of bric-a-brac, comprising the choicest articles in many private collections. The gentlemen who have charge of the art gallery will see that it is not overshadowed by any other department of the Exposition.

THE WHITE HOUSE ROAD.—A few minor repairs have actually been made to the macadamized road leading to the White house. In one or two places, where scores of horses have sometimes broken their necks, depressions and deep holes have been filled up. The plank road, however, remains as it was, and all who travel that way know what that is. If the city council were to order this dilapidated framework torn up and consigned to oblivion, they would confer a lasting favor on the traveling public.

DRUG IN THE MARKET.—Muskmelons, cantaloupes and casaba melons are a drug in the market. In fact, dealers can hardly give them away, and some of them are not worth taking as a gift. A nice fresh melon is a very fine thing, but when a melon is too ripe or not ripe enough it is a delusion and a nuisance. It is not every one who can select a good cantaloupe out of a pile, and as there are generally but few good ones in a pile a great many people in the course of a season pay for cantaloupes which they cannot eat.

SENT TO THE HOSPITAL.—Special order No. 103, issued from Vancouver, says: Upon application of the medical director, under the provisions of general orders No. 103, series 1888, headquarters of the army, the commanding officer, Fort Sherman, will send private William Lang, hospital corps, to Vancouver barracks for treatment and observation by the medical director in the hospital at that post.

BACK FROM EUROPE.—Mrs. Anna J. White, for many years a resident of this city, has just returned from an European tour. During her trip she visited the principal cities and places of interest in England, France, Italy, Switzer and, Austria, Germany and Belgium. She expresses herself as having enjoyed a remarkably pleasant and profitable tour.

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.—Mr. Henry E. Dosch, late of the firm of Akin, Selling & Co., has been appointed agent for the Norwich Union, an old established fire insurance company. Mr. Dosch is well known to the insuring public, and no doubt will receive a good share of their patronage. Office will be located at 29 Stark street.

SUFFERERS BY THE FIRE.—An Italian named Salregi, who has a wife and four children, was among the sufferers by the fire on Front and Columbia streets Wednesday afternoon. The family lost everything and are in destitute circumstances. Their present wants are being cared for by friends at No. 9 Water street.

JIM TURK AGAIN IN TROUBLE.—Jim Turk of sailor boarding-house fame is again in trouble. This time he is charged with enticing M. E. Peterson, a sailor on the ship Lord Canning, to desert. He is out on bail, but will be tried before Justice Phelan at 2 o'clock this afternoon before a jury, which he demanded.

"MAKES HER MARK."—At the O. R. & N. Co.'s office is a bill for supplies furnished one of the departments of the company, which is receipted by a white woman who makes her X mark, and her "signature" is witnessed by a Chinaman who signs his name, Lee Mow, in a fair, round hand.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS' MEETING.—The Grand Commandery of Knights Templars of Oregon meets next Tuesday at Eugene. Special rates have been secured from the Oregon & California Railroad Company for members of the Commandery and all Sir Knights who wish to attend.

RAILS, BOLTS AND FISH BARS.—Rails for over two miles of the Fulton Park Electric Motor line have arrived, also a car load of bolts and fish plates. The dynamos are on the way and will soon be here. Active operation will be begun on the Second street line before long.

THERE HAS BEEN such a great run on the $5 cabinets which Prof. Eastman is making at his East Side gallery, on N street between Fourth and Fifth, that the gentleman has decided to extend the time for making photographs for this price a few days longer.

FREE LECTURE CONTINUED.—Mothers, teachers and all others interested, are cordially invited to be present at the lecture, corner of Second and Mill streets, this afternoon at 4 o'clock sharp. Lecture to be delivered by Mrs. E. G. Greene, the kindergartener.

FUNERAL OF AUGUST LIND.—The funeral of August Lind, the young Dane who died last Wednesday, was held from River's undertaking rooms yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains were buried in Lone Fir cemetery.

IMPROVED IN HEALTH.—John Green and Boss Schenck, who have been in Southern California for some months past, left San Francisco for New York Tuesday. They are improved in health and have been enjoying themselves greatly.

UNDER EXCITING CIRCUMSTANCES.—During the delay caused by the engine of a Short Line passenger train running into a band of cattle, a few days since, a child was born on the train. It will probably be named "Collision."

LEFT FOR EUROPE.—Dr. J. T. Dixon left last night for Europe, to visit the exposition and to study in the hospitals of some of the principal cities, and expects to take Edinburg and London degrees before returning home.

FOR THE SOUND.—The steamship Idaho will sail from Steamship dock at 10 P. M. to-day for Port Angeles, Port Townsend, Seattle, Tacoma, Whatcom, Fairhaven, Sehome and Roche harbor.

JOHN RING APPOINTED.—The committee on Sewers and superintendent of streets yesterday appointed John Ring to oversee the construction of the Fourteenth street sewer.

THE REV. THOMAS BOYD—Having returned from his vacation, services will be held as usual to-morrow morning and evening at the Fourth Presbyterian church.

KOHN'S LATEST IMPORTATION of suitings has arrived, comprising all the latest novelties.

J. P. GRUPE'S VERY SEVERE FALL.

His Recovery Is Assured—How the Accident Occurred.

The name of the man, who fell from the west approach of the iron railway bridge at an early hour Wednesday morning, is J. P. Grupe instead of Groop, as was heretofore stated.

Mr. Grupe is a well-known merchant of Dayton, W. T., where he has been in business for many years. The fracture to Mr. Grupe's leg is a severe one, but it is believed that he will come out all right. It may keep him confined in his room for six or eight weeks, but, under the skillful care, he is receiving at the Port and hospital, his ultimate recovery is assured. The gash over the right eye, exposing the bone, has been sewed up and the cut surfaces are rapidly uniting. The stitches will be taken out in a day or two.

Mr. Grupe states that his unfortunate accident was caused by a shadow along the railway track. He took the shadow for a plank along the track and stepping upon it for better walking, he first realized its etherial construction. He is resigned to his fate and takes the accident philosophically.

HOW GUYER WON NORA.

The Intended Bride's Parents Were Perfectly Willing That She Should Marry at 16.

Among the marriage licenses granted yesterday, was one for A. S. Guyer and Miss Nora Chapman. The intended bride is but 16, and the consent of her parents was necessary. They expressed it in the following note to County Clerk Powell:

No. 65 HOOD STREET, Sept. 5, 1889.

We are both perfectly willing for Mr. A. S. Guyer to have our daughter Nora.

S. P. CHAPMAN,
A. R. CHAPMAN.

JACK DEMPSEY RETURNS.

He Is Still the Middle-Weight Champion and Is Willing to Fight La Blanche Again.

Jack Dempsey, the pugilist, returned yesterday morning from San Francisco and is staying in East Portland. He shows but little trace of his recent terrific battle with La Blanche. The only mark was the nose swelling caused by the knockout blow, and that has about disappeared.

Considering that his colors have been victorious on fifty fields, Dempsey takes his defeat philosophically. He is full of life and spirit and is ready and willing to do battle with the Marine again.

PERSONAL.

Hon. A. M. Cannon, of Spokane Falls, is in the city. He will remain until Saturday.

Mrs. E. L. Thompson, of Albany, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. B. Slauson, of East Portland.

Dr. Charles A. Macrum, son of I. A. Macrum, esq., who recently graduated at the head of his class in the homeopathic department of the University of Michigan, and who subsequently refused the important post of house surgeon at that institution, has returned to Portland to remain permanently. He has just opened offices at rooms 1 and 2, Multnomah block.

BRIEF MENTION.

What might have saved Seattle? One of Z. T. Wright's Lindgren Fire Engines. They can be seen at the foot of Morrison street. Every family should have one.

Do not buy a cheap piano when you can get the very best for the same money. H. Sinsheimer, the well-known music dealer at 214 First street, has just received an immense shipment of the famous Steinway & Son's and Chickering & Son's pianos—the best instruments in the world. He also carries the only high-grade organ—the Burdett. He is the only Portland music dealer who buys direct from the factories for cash only.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria;
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria;
When she became Miss she clung to Castoria;
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE GREAT FALL MEETING.

Sixteen Horses to Run in the Great Suburban Handicap.

All the Preliminaries for the Races Have Been Carefully Arranged—A Very Large Attendance From All Quarters Expected.

From present indications the fall meeting of the Portland Speed Association which commences next Tuesday, and ends Saturday, will be the biggest gathering of fast horses that has ever taken place in the Northwest if not the Pacific Coast. The owners of the fastest horses in Oregon, Washington territory, California, Idaho and Montana, with their fleet-footed animals, will be in attendance. The majority of horses whose names will be found among the entries below, have made good records which insures an exciting meeting.

The gentlemen who have this meeting in hand have left no stone unturned to insure the minutest details of the meeting being carried out without a hitch. To insure no delay in the transportation of persons to the track, they have made arrangements to have two ferry boats running at the crossing of the river at Riverview cemetery every day of the races. Indications point to such a large attendance that the association has also engaged two boats and barges which will run between this city and the park every hour commencing at 10 o'clock each day of the meeting. This will give those who wish a chance to go over early and look at the horses.

Every detail will be carefully looked after, and the strictest decorum will be rigidly enforced on the track. Ladies, even unaccompanied by gentlemen will be as carefully looked after and as courteously treated as though they were attending a first-class theater. Several prominent citizens have generously proffered their services as judges of each day's races.

Members of the association will start out this morning, having districted the city, and will supply all intending to attend the races with tickets, and as these tickets are good for any of the five days' races, and also include transportation to the grounds, it is expected that a very large number will have been disposed of by evening. This movement is worthy of substantial encouragement, as no enterprise has been introduced into this community that has ever been conducive of greater good or has attracted so many people from the surrounding states as will these races.

The gentlemen having the matter in charge are all businessmen, who are devoting their energies, time and attention to the races, and as the outcome of this meeting will undoubtedly lead to the establishment of a permanent Jockey Club Association here, which will comprise a large number of horse owners and breeders, they merit encouragement. They will secure it, too, as one well known business man, who is a great admirer of horseflesh, yesterday informed them that he would give the handsome sum of $10,000 toward the establishment of a permanent Jockey club. Besides attracting a very large number of people to Portland, these races bring a great deal of business.

Below will be found a complete list of the entries for this meeting, with the pedigree of each horse, as far as known:

IMMIGRATION FOR AUGUST.

The Work of the Board for the Past Month.

Large Distribution of Printed Matter—The Board's Efforts Attended by Good Results—The Future Looks Bright.

The regular monthly meeting of the Oregon Immigration Board was held Wednesday evening at their rooms, No. 10 Ash street. In the absence of the presiding officers, Ellis G. Hughes was called to the chair.

The reading of minutes of previous meetings was on motion deferred for the present.

Communications were read as follows:

From A. E. Johnson & Co., New York, stating that they were preparing a fine antique oak case with French plate glass front for the Oregon exhibit, to be furnished by the board, and requesting a full supply of Oregon literature. On motion of Mr. Osborn the secretary was instructed to supply the firm with liberal quantities of the board's literature.

In the same connection Mr. Sherman moved that the secretary instruct P. C. Kauffman, in charge of Oregon exhibit at Buffalo, to ship immediately to Johnson & Co. a selected assortment of the display in his hands.

From J. E. Shepherd, San Francisco agent of the board, asking for a supply of posters, in colors, for use in that city. On motion of Mr. Sherman 12,500 posters were ordered printed for Mr. Shepherd's use.

The monthly bills of the board, aggregating $314 63, were audited and ordered paid.

The report of the secretary was read and accepted, as follows:

FEATURES OF THE MONTH.

The month has been unmarked by any special features, other than the departure of our Eastern exhibit, which was fully dealt with in my last report. The volume of inquiry, while below that of the preceding month, has been quite large, and, as will be observed from the foregoing table, widely distributed.

This feature is a natural consequence of the wide advertising of the board, reaching as we do every state and territory in the Union. We anticipated a falling off in our correspondence for August, owing to the fact that our five-line reading notice in the co-operative lists has been suspended until October 1st, when it will be again inserted. For the same reason we may anticipate limited inquiries during the current month, so far as direct returns from our advertising are concerned. There will naturally, however, be a marked increase in general inquiry in accordance with a well-defined law of immigration, well understood by your honorable body, which produces greater inquiry during the fall or spring months than in any other season of the year.

The Oregon Immigration Board has become so well known throughout the United States that, if it were to cease advertising entirely, it would naturally by momentum, as it were, be the recipient for some time to come of large correspondence. This thought suggests another, and that is that the effect and value of the work of this board cannot be measured within any brief time.

For example, we are almost daily in receipt of letters inclosing or referring to our advertisements inserted during 1887-88, proving that those notices had been read months ago, and carefully laid away for future use. We also receive quite often letters addressed to the former secretary, going to show that the literature of the old state board is still current in portions of the United States. Nor are the direct results coming under the immediate notice of this board all that should be accredited to it.

The remark of a New York gentleman to a prominent real estate man of this city is apt at this point. The gentleman said: "Portland ought to have a tremendous boom next year." "Why so?" was asked. "Because," was the reply, "she has been advertised in every city and hamlet throughout the East, and her position and status are about as well known there as here." This gentleman had seen the large advertising of this board in the Eastern dailies, and, while he had never sent to the board for literature, he had come in person to investigate the city of Portland with a view to investing. He has many compeers without doubt, the value of whose opinions expressed before their friends throughout the East cannot be measured in their effect upon the future development of this city.

PRAISE FOR PORTLAND.

This leads me to say that the almost universal verdict of newcomers, with whom your secretary has conversed upon the subject, has been unqualified praise for Portland. There is a stability here which commands respect. There is a quiet though energetic attention to business here which impresses the newcomer, a wealth of home comforts and an array of educational, religious and social advantages which win his confidence. Coupled with these is enterprise, persistent and unmarching, which is building palatial business blocks and residences, laying miles of street railway, erecting mammoth elevators and manufactories, and certainly placing the city of Portland in the very first rank of American cities.

Newcomers are observant of these things, and while the "boom" policy of other ambitious cities may attract crowds and vain compliments from the traveler, the sturdy worth of Portland will surely invite and secure the residence and the co-operation of the larger share of the permanent settlers in the cities and towns of the Pacific Northwest. It may be in questionable taste to mention the fact, but it is none the less pleasant to know that the present remarkable activity and growth of this city are due in great measure to the judicious work of this board; and since the present results are so gratifying, your honorable body should be content to continue in the same calm, though persistent and effective policy which has characterized your past course.

A NOTICEABLE FEATURE.

One of the noticeable features of the present year's development is the extensive filings upon the timber lands of Oregon. It has been apparent for several months past that a concerted effort was being made to secure large and valuable tracts of timber in this state. Inquiry into the matter forces the conclusion that the millionaire lumbermen of Wisconsin and Michigan have their eyes upon Oregon and Washington as a field for extensive operations in the very near future. The woods are full of locators and the various land offices are besieged with applications for purchase. I mention these facts not for the purpose of calling into question the value of this movement, but to indicate the probable development of the near future. The transplanting of the Michigan and Wisconsin lumber interests to the Pacific Northwest will mean the employment of a great army of men and the distribution of vast sums of money. It is a matter for congratulation that there is prospect of speedy development of this great resource. At the present time the activity is greatest in the Roseburg land district. Of the reduced rate certificates issued by the board during August a majority have been to Roseburg, and of the number going almost all stated they were in search of timber land.

THE OUTLOOK GOOD.

Regarding the prospects for future immigration, there is every reason to consider them good. Letters announcing formation of colonies continue to arrive with nearly every mail, while individual statements of a determination to remove to Oregon are very numerous. There will be a large influx this fall beyond question. In fact the present daily arrivals are surprisingly large. The hotels are crowded nightly, scarcely a bed being obtainable after nightfall. There will be a very large demand for houses to rent this winter, and while our citizens have very many now under construction, they should provide many more. Real estate offices report a continuous large inquiry for houses to let, and state they could rent a thousand additional homes within a week if they had them. In view of these facts (and they may be verified by anyone by slight inquiry), property owners should bestir themselves in building.

OUR EASTERN EXHIBIT.

The exhibit of Oregon products at the Grangers picnic was in every respect a success. Mr. Kauffman, in charge, states that the Oregon display was far superior to every other exhibit of a similar character. The exhibit is now in Buffalo, where it will remain until the 13th inst., when it will be transferred to Detroit. It is confidently believed that good results will accrue from this method of advertising.

MISCELLANEOUS.

During the month we have distributed through various railroad companies over 30,000 pieces of literature, and still there is urgent demand for more. Matter sent out in this way is always judiciously used, and is put immediately in channels where it must reach the actual inquirer.

We have given out during the month to business men and citizens of Portland 2,500 pieces of literature for distribution among their correspondents and visitors. The new "Portland Illustrated," containing the bird's-eye view of the city, is the most popular.

Our mailing department is now employed in sending out the small "Portland" to a list of some 20,000 names obtained from the directories of the leading cities. We have so far sent out upwards of 10,000 in this manner, a full account of which will be given in my next monthly report. Respectfully submitted,

WALLACE R. STRUBLE,
Secretary.

On motion of Mr. McFall, adjourned.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

Farming as Well as Mechanics Should Be Elevated to Their Proper Place.

CORVALLIS, Sept. 4.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Industrial education is now a question of special interest, and each year adds to its importance. It is not merely a question of the proper kind of education, but whether farming and mechanics must be left—while all other forms of civilization advance—in the same old rut, each year to less and less educate people. It is useless to account for it by stating that schools, and books, and the press encourage a love for the gay life of the city and arouse a distaste for the plodding life of the farm or machine shop—even though they furnish the food and life of the nation and the bone and sinew of its frame.

Our agricultural colleges have undertaken to stem the current that is depopulating our farming communities and overcrowding our cities, and propose, with the farmers' assistance, to inspire their sons and daughters with a love for their most useful and honorable calling, and by the charm of a familiar acquaintance with its most interesting facts and their relation to the world's work, to return them to the farm with such a knowledge of Nature and her physical laws as to be able to utilize all her latent energies, and with the magic wand of science to convert hitherto useless heaps into fructifying and active assistants of plant life. They must be taught to improve the present methods of farming by being shown that 100 acres well and carefully tilled will produce better results than 200 ill cared for; that rotation in crops is as necessary for the well-being of the soil as exercise is for the health of the body; and that the causes of insect pests and diseases of vegetation can be as definitely determined by science as of pneumonia or the measles in the human frame, and can be as successfully treated.

But to accomplish these results, to reach the farm with the application of science, the agricultural college must have the training of the coming generations intrusted to their care, and must instill into their minds and hearts the habit of scientific thoughtfulness and the necessity of translating these thoughts into action.

The tendency, then, of industrial education, should be to give such discipline to the mind, body and sympathies as shall fit the student for the task of elevating agriculture and mechanical pursuits to their proper place amongst scientific professions, in an atmosphere and surroundings which add to and gratify the natural curiosity about seeds, soils, moisture, heat, germination and fertilization, and all sorts and kinds of machinery.

JOHN D. LETCHER.

ASTORIA RAILWAY SURVEYS.

Permanent Location Made—The Line Passes Through Some Very Rich Country.

The two corps of engineers in charge of Assistant E. E. Cotter and R. A. Habersham have completed the permanent location of the Astoria & South Coast railway from Astoria across the Coast range to Nehalem valley, at Jewell, via the Saddle for forty-two miles, on which division eighteen miles have been constructed, waiting the rails to arrive at Portland on Saturday, and there are now working 257 white laborers on the grading to the Willamette valley. F. E. Habersham the chief engineer, completed his preliminary survey from Jewell to Vernonia parallel with the meanderings of the Nehalem river for thirty-two miles, but as this latter line is too long and is subject to winter freshets, which rise thirty-six to forty-two feet above the Nehalem river and will carry down the track, Mr. William Reid, the president, prefers a higher grade and a shorter line, and consequently ordered a new survey across the country from Jewell, via Deep Creek, and another from Jewell via Buster's creek to Vernonia.

To accomplish this object, Mr. Reid left last Friday over and, via Cornelius, with Chief Engineer Habersham and Assistant Engineer Cooper and guides. Mr. Reid returned yesterday and was interviewed by an OREGONIAN reporter.

He reports that a favorable route was obtained shortening the line from Astoria to Forest Grove eight miles and opening up an entirely new country, heavily timbered with cedar, fir and maple. He traveled on foot for twenty-three miles continuously through what he claims is the thickest and richest timbered region in the world; where forest fires have never entered. The soil, even to the mountain tops, being free of rock and splendid for dairy and grass land when the timber is removed. He claims that when the Astoria & South Coast road is opened to a connection with the Oregon & California road, the latter will carry to Portland and to the various towns in the Willamette valley on the standard and narrow gauge lines the whole timber—cedar, fir and maple—required for Western Oregon at cheaper prices than it is possible elsewhere, while one-half of the lumber to be manufactured on those timber regions will be exported to Astoria and shipped in seagoing vessels to China, South America and Australia.

The highest elevation of the Astoria & South Coast railway in the Nehalem valley will be ... feet, while the summit between it and the Willamette valley is crossed by a new divide at an elevation of only 1125 feet, without a tunnel. The grade will be 1 per cent in favor of the train to Astoria and only 2 per cent. on the divide to the sea. The main line will strike the seaside at a point 100 miles from Portland, thereby four and one-half miles more, including seaside extension, carries the road to Astoria itself across Young's bay. The new survey runs through seven miles of coal and ironstone lands and through a limestone bed and good freestone. The ironstone assayed 57 per cent. of iron.

ANOTHER PUBLIC FIRE TEST.

A Large Crowd Congregated Opposite the Postoffice to Witness It.

Another public test of the J. E. Long hand pump fire extinguisher was given on Fifth street, opposite the postoffice, yesterday afternoon.

A small building constructed of dry boards and a wooden chimney was thoroughly painted on the inside with six quarts of tar and two gallons of kerosene oil. A large crowd had congregated to witness the test, and as the match was applied to the building the intense heat rapidly drove them back. About one quart of the fluid extinguished the flames. The chimney was set on fire twice. The first time it was allowed to burn in order to dry the boards more thoroughly and the second time the order was given by Chief Engineer Morgan.

The fierce flames were this time extinguished with a little less that a pint of the fluid. The gas generated by the heating of the fluid seems to have the peculiar power of quenching the fierce flames. The tests were entirely successful and satisfactory and the superior advantages of the extinguisher were clearly demonstrated.

All traces of scrofula are expelled from the blood by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by druggists.

EAST SIDE NEWS MATTERS.

A Partial List of the New Buildings in Process of Construction.

Telephone Line—Passenger Coach—Special Meeting—Amateur Lawyer—Work Not Accepted—Various Items

Although there is not quite so much building going on in East Portland as at the first of the year, there is considerable building in progress and the following is a partial list of the principal ones.

L. J. Sprague the contractor is pushing the preliminary work on the Adams street M. E. Church. The old building has been moved back and excavations for the foundation are being made.

The hotel on Second and J streets, now being built by ... H. Fiske of Portland, ... in the shape of an L. It will have nearly seventy five feet front and the L on the west side will extend back about the same distance. Built in this shape gives all the rooms plenty of ventilation and light which would not be the case if the building was square.

The woodwork on J. H. Baylor's hotel on Fifth and H streets is finished and the bricklayers have commenced on the outside brick veneering. This will be a fine looking building when completed.

The basement of Dunning's new brick on Sixth and M streets is almost completed and the building will soon follow.

Mr. Smith, who owns the northwest corner of ... and J streets, has had plans for a brick on that corner prepared. It was not ascertained when the building will be commenced, but the ... stated it will not be long.

The repairs to the Odd Fellows building on the southeast corner of Fifth and I streets are nearly completed. The painters were putting on the finishing touches to the outside last night. It ... an entirely new building.

The frame for Mr. Fred Smith's new residence ... corner of Seventh and P streets was raised yesterday. It will cost about $ 500.

Contractor McKeen is rapidly pushing the work on Dr. Day Easly's palatial residence on Brooklyn heights. The carpenters are putting on the ornamental work. This is a bewildering labyrinth of scroll and mouldings.

Jacob Dickenbock's two-story building on N between Fifth and Sixth is about finished.

W. A. Geebock's house on Holladay avenue is progressing right along. It will cost about $15,000.

Very good progress is being made on Mr. Tomb's residence on Thirteenth and O streets. It is all enclosed. The cost of the building will be $25,000.

WANTED TO HELP.

The other day a stranger was in the East Portland Mill and Furniture Factory, on L street, and thought he would render some assistance to the workman engaged in ripping boards into strips with a small circular saw. Generally one man puts the board and another pulls it. The stranger caught hold and pulled the board and when the strip was sawed off he pushed the board backward. In doing so the end of the board struck the saw. In a flash the board was whirled through the air with great force, and within a few inches of the man's head. Had he been struck he would have been badly hurt. The cause of the accident was that when the man pushed the piece of timber against the saw it (the saw) was whirling in an opposite direction. He concluded his services were not needed in that mill.

WORK ON D STREET.

The work on D street was not accepted at the meeting of the city council Monday night, but the contractor has since been at work on the street and completed the work in accordance with the contract, so it is stated. This being the case, the contractor will doubtless receive his warrants for the work this evening.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING

A special meeting of the city council will be held this evening. The new ordinance of the Willamette Bridge Railway Company and other important matters will come up. It is to be hoped that the council may adjourn at a reasonable hour.

TELEPHONE LINE

The poles for a telephone line have been placed along the east side of Fifth street. Poles have been distributed along the Milwaukee road, and it is stated that the line will be extended to Willsburg, so as to give communication with the furniture company.

PASSENGER COACH ARRIVES.

A passenger coach for the Hawthorne Avenue railway to Mount Tabor arrived last night. It was stated yesterday that the line will be put in operation next week.

NOTES.

Dr. M. A. Flinn and family have returned from Tacoma.

Mr. John Kenworthy and family have returned from Long Beach.

The Wegman piano is the best in the market. To day at Tom Parrott's.

Mrs. P. Friedlander, who left last Saturday on a visit to her brother, A. C. Sommer, Harrisburg, returned yesterday afternoon.

THE ALBINA NEWS BUDGET.

The city council held their sixth regular meeting Wednesday evening at the council chamber, Mayor McLachlin in the chair.

The roll was called and all the members were found to be present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from A. J. Smithson for a permit to grade Elliot street in front of block 2, Abend's addition, granted.

A report was received from the committee on streets and public property recommending that the petition for improving Borthwick street be granted.

Of the committee on streets and public property on the petition of John and Bridget Orton to permit the improvement of Elliot street in front of lots 8 and 9, block 12, granted. The work is to be completed in sixty days.

Report of city surveyor on Abernathy avenue; accepted.

The following claims were read: From Olds & Summers, $120 55, referred to the finance committee, J. H. Thomas $50, allowed; John P. Curtin $70 allowed, Albina Water Co. $30, allowed, Hurlburt and assistants $39, allowed, Albina Courier $29 35, allowed, Police Judge Hughes $70 allowed.

An ordinance to change the grade on and improve Sellwood street was read first time in full, and a second time by title.

To change the grade on and to improve Knott street, read first time in full and second time by title.

Declaring the cost of improving Sacramento street from Williams avenue to Margaretta avenue read third time and passed.

On motion the committee on streets and public property were authorized to advertise for bids for the improvement of Knott street as soon as the estimate is made and filed with the police judge.

The committee on streets and public property were authorized to enter into a contract with the lowest bidder on the Rodney avenue work.

A warrant of $500 was ordered drawn in favor of J. N. Tomlinson on Abernathy avenue for improvement work.

The matter of grading at the south end of Goldsmith street bridge was referred to the street committee, with power to enter into a contract if it sees fit.

The city surveyor was instructed to make a survey of a strip of land between the Vancouver road and Prescott avenue with a view of condemning it.

The city surveyor was also instructed to make a survey of the extension of Williams avenue from Morris to Ash street, sixty feet wide, with a view of condemning the street.

The matter of opening Tillamook street was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The matter of investigating the qualification of judges and clerks of the election was referred to the street committee.

On motion the council then adjourned to meet Thursday, September 12, 1889.

ALL FOR CHARITY.

The Ladies' Union Relief Society, after a short adjournment, have again started to work with renewed zeal, and with the kind assistance of the public, will endeavor to have "The Patton Home" for the Friendless in course of construction in a short time. They have had a force of men clearing the block donated for the Home in the Patton tract and will have plans and specifications of the building submitted to them at their next meeting. If satisfactory the contract will be let and the building pushed to completion. To help raise funds for this purpose they will give a ball, and every ticket sold will be that much towards swelling the funds for a benevolent purpose.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF BABY.

Yesterday morning a woman was seen to jump off the O. R. & N. Co.'s incline into the river. A man in a row boat rushed to her rescue and saved her from drowning. On ascertaining the particulars, it was found that she was a young married woman about 23 years of age, and named Mary Brown. She has a babe three months old, and since its birth she has been noticed to act queerly and to have a mania for self-destruction. She also seems to have a hatred for her babe, and unable to control herself. Her husband took her over to Portland where she was examined by Dr. Josephi, who pronounced her insane and she was taken to the asylum at Salem.

AN INJUNCTION SERVED

On Monday an injunction was served by the county elective judge on the Willamette Railway Company, restraining them from continuing the laying of the track for said line on the St. Johns road. This is a county road and it was very much obstructed by the work necessary for the proposed railway, and also a right of way had not been granted to said company. The men moved their tents and implements, and will continue the construction of the railway on the franchised streets in Albina until matters are adjusted satisfactorily.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The stock market was again very active and decidedly strong to-day, the weakness seemingly having entirely disappeared from the list. The continual animation was largely the result of buying orders from outside causes, although the most influential of these was the buying of western stock, which made grangers to-day the leading stocks, with the exception of coalers. The list is almost invariably higher to night.

Government bonds have been dull and steady.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Produce receipts during past 24 hours include wheat, 26 000 ctls flour 1900 qr sks, oats, 1100 ctls, potatoes, 4500 sks barley 14 500 ctls.

Freights and Charters—Grain tonnage easier and tending down, owing to the weak tone of foreign wheat markets. Several grain vessels have been taken on spot during the week at a decline. Spot charters include the British Thalatta iron 1748 tons, at 36s 6d, British Aristomene iron, 1700 tons, at 36s 3d, British Kinkora, iron, 1799 tons, at 36s and the large British Fitzmore, iron 2358 tons at 35s, all for the United Kingdom, with options of Havre or Antwerp.

Arrivals during the week of deep sea tonnage chartered ahead include British Lord Shaftsbury iron, 1671 tons, at 37s 6d, British Star of Italy, iron, 1571 tons, at 35s 3d and the British Afghanistan iron, 2221 tons, at 37s 6d, all for U. K., Havre or Antwerp.

In coal and lumber freights a fair amount of business is doing and rates are steady.

Wheat—The foreign demand for California cargoes has been slow and prices are from 1 shilling to 1 shilling 6d per quarter lower for cargoes in all positions. Local shipping houses therefore show less disposition to operate on an extensive scale at present prices as freights give way slowly and exporters cannot put wheat on board ship except at a loss. Considerable wheat is coming to hand, but it was mostly purchased earlier in the season and at higher prices than would be justified at present. Holders are loth to meet the decline and offer sparingly, hoping the demand abroad will improve and enable them to obtain an advance on current quotations which range from $1 27½ for medium sized parcels to $1 28¾ for round lots of standard No. 1 shipping. Futures—Speculation has been far from active and the week's business makes a small showing. Prices however, have ruled quiet and steady, buyer year option ranging between $1 37@1 37¾ until the close when prices gave way under moderate trading. To day's morning sales were 100 tons buyer year at $1 37, 100 tons at $1 36⅞, 400 tons at $1 36¾, 1300 tons at $1 36⅝. Buyer the season, $1 41¼.

Wheat—Afternoon session: Buyer year opened at $1 36¼, closed at $1 36⅝; buyer season closed at $1 40⅝, seller year (new) $1 27¾.

Barley—The movement in barley has been light, the demand being confined to meet local requirements. Very little doing in a speculative way. Offerings have been kept well in hand, and in spite of liberal stocks and free receipts prices have been kept at a steady point. Quotations on feed descriptions range from 67½@70c for choice, 65@67½c for No. 1 and 62½@63¾ for common. Brewing qualities firmly held at 82½ to 97½c for good to choice. Options quiet, prices fluctuated within a narrow range.

Oats—Stocks fair and receipts moderate yet the market shows signs of weakness, partly owing to forced sales on the part of weak holders. Buyers are cautious about operating extensively and only purchase sufficient to cover immediate wants. For choice feed, sales were made at $1 15 to $1 17½c. No. 1 feed at $1 12½@1 15, lower feed descriptions at $1 02½@1 10, milling steady at $1 22½@1 25.

Millstuffs—The demand has been of a limited character, and full quotations are not always obtainable. Stocks are ample to meet current requirements, and prices rather favor buyers. Quote: Oregon bran at $12 50 to $13, middlings, $18@14.

Potatoes—Under free receipts of all kinds the market is barely steady, with concessions often made to induce buying.

Wool—Holders generally appear to have more confidence in the future and are less disposed to press sales. The tenor of late Eastern advices are more favorable to the holding interest, and while no advance in prices has taken place, yet the market has a hardening tendency. Quote Oregon valley at 20@23½c; Eastern Oregon, 18@20c.

Hops—Dull and weak, with prices against sellers. There are few bids in the market at present and these are far below sellers' views. Quotations, therefore, are purely nominal.

Bags—Demand about checked and little business passing. Latest prices are about 6½@6⅝c spot for Calcuttas.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Grain freights were not so firm and declined ⅛d. Quote 4⅛d per bushel on wheat per steamer to Liverpool.

The wheat market was easier, but dull, opened 83¾c September, 84⅝c October, 87c December, 91⅞c May. Noon 84c September, 84⅝c October, 86⅞c December, 91⅞c May. Closed 84c September, 84⅝c October, 85¾c November, 87c December, 89¼c May.

WILLAMETTE RIVER WATER.

An Expert Declares That It Is Purer Than Ordinarily Credited

During the past summer there has been a great deal said through the papers and by individuals about the Portland water supply, and all have condemned it. Not a word has any one to say in its favor. (I have not yet interviewed the water company.) All the sickness of the city has been attributed to its filthy and poisonous (?) condition. It has even been called "soup." I presume from the animal matter supposed to be therein contained. Having to use this same water for drinking as well as various other purposes, I determined to satisfy myself as to its potable character, and on June 25 I began a careful analysis to determine as to its purity or impurity, and I finished the same on June 28. On August 25 I again analyzed a sample with essentially identical results. Both samples were drawn from a hydrant in my offices on ... First street.

I began the analysis with the expectation of finding enough, and more than enough putrid matter in the water to ... for all the sickness and death from which the city has suffered during the season, for my mind had become prejudiced by the condemnatory stories told of it.

The following analysis will show the amount of impurities contained in one United States gallon of 231 cubic inches of Willamette water. Organic matter, less than ½ grain. Inorganic matter, less than 2 grains. Nitrates trace. Chlorides trace. Iron as oxide trace. Total solids less than 2½ grains.

The oxide of iron is doubtless formed by the action of water upon the iron conduits.

There is, as shown by the analysis, but one half grain of organic matter to each gallon. This is a very small amount as compared with the waters used in other cities of the world and from its small amount I am satisfied that it is of vegetable origin.

The small amount of inorganic salts makes the water very soft. The two grains per gallon is hardly appreciable in "hardness" or soap destroying quality, and it also accounts for the flat taste of the water. It would be more pleasing to the palate if it contained ten or fifteen grains more of these inorganic salts. It would then approximate pure spring water, which is always highly prized for drinking purposes and is always as a rule hard.

If we compare Willamette water with the published analyses of that used in other cities it will show the remarkable purity of what we are drinking.

The famous Croton water of New York city, contains over six grains of solids with one grain of organic matter per gallon. Lake Michigan water used by Chicago, has seven grains of solid matter, with one grain of organic matter per gallon.

In short there is not, to my knowledge, a published analysis of drinking water that shows a greater purity than this same reviled Willamette river water. I am well aware that it is not the quantity but the quality, of organic matter in water that determines its adaptability for drinking purposes. There may be from two to four grains of vegetable organic matter per gallon without making it at all detrimental to health. In fact many springs that have a high reputation for purity have that much and even more, and yet be used for years without producing any disease in those using it.

On the contrary animal matter that has undergone or is undergoing putrefactive changes, even though no taste or smell is perceptible and though the quantity is very minute may make water extremely dangerous to human life and health and give rise to many diseases of a highly dangerous and fatal character.

It is now a pretty well settled fact that rivers will purify themselves in a few miles flow, even though large quantities of sewage is poured into them. The agents that bring about this result are oxidation by which much putrid matter is burnt up, precipitation by which some of it falls to the bed of the stream and some is destroyed by organisms in the water such as fish, water plants and the minute algae, some forms of which possibly feed upon or destroy the as yet unrecognized somethings which cause disease.

During 1888 there was an immense amount of literature on the subject of water as a medium for the propagation and cultivation of pathogenic germs and it is a fully settled fact that typhoid and other germs can be propagated and live for a long time in river water. It is also a fact that the development and growth of bacteria depends entirely upon the amount of organic matter therein present. The small amount of organic matter (one half grain per gallon) in the Willamette water almost precludes the idea of any typhoid or other germs that are inimical to health being contained in it. What the water will be when the fall and winter rains wash the soil from the surface drained by the tributaries of the river, I am not prepared to say, but there can be no doubt but that there will be a greater percentage of organic, as well as inorganic matter in the water, and it would be well to adopt measures to prevent it contamination of the water or to purify it beyond a shadow of a doubt by filtration by boiling or both. Filtration while not excluding all microbes, serves to exclude all solid matter suspended in the water and much of the organic material. While boiling the water will destroy the microbes, and the two together will give us an absolutely safe water.

In conclusion, I will say that what the Willamette water has been in the past, I am not prepared to state what it will be in the future can only be predicted, but it is safe to say it will not be pure. I am only speaking, in this article, a word in its favor for the past season it has shown on analysis to be remarkably pure and there is no doubt in my mind as to its healthfulness for drinking purposes. To account for much of the sickness in the city, it would be well to bring the sewers and the general plumbing of our residences to the witness stand, this is a hint for our worthy board of health.

There is an almost unlimited demand for houses to rent in La Grande at the present time. A temporary vacancy is followed by as many as one half a dozen applications the same day. This condition of affairs is largely due to the large number of new arrivals and the opening of the public school which attract a good many families from the surrounding country who have children to educate. The La Grande public school is a graded institution well managed. Six teachers are employed and an increase in the service will be necessary before the winter term. The school building is a commodious structure with six rooms, and is well supplied with the latest improved schoolroom appurtenances. It was thought when built four years ago that it would answer all the purposes of the district for ten years, but it is already too small, as the enrollment at the first day of the term was an average of just sixty pupils to each room.

REDUCE THE HOURS.

A Shorter Day for Labor Will Not Add to the Cost of Productions

PORTLAND, Sept. 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In the communication of "S. G." on Governor Pennoyer's address at the labor meeting the other evening and the eight hour system, appear several fallacies that ought not to go uncorrected. As "S. G." says labor and capital should go hand in hand and encourage each other. They are as necessary to each other as two wings to a bird or two legs to a man, but they are more dependent upon land (which is not capital) than upon each other. The result of an eight hour day, or a six-hour day for that matter would not be to add to the cost of articles of consumption as "S. G." says, nor would the house, including the lot, cost $12,500 instead of $10 000. The only result would be to draw out a great deal of the water or inflated value now represented in the market price of land. The builder of a $10 000 house has very probably been obliged to pay $6000 or $4000 for his lot; the house could be built for $10 000 under the eight hour system, but granting that it would cost $12,500, the price of the lot would come just that much lower to the improver or to the builder of the house, which would make its total outlay not a whit greater under the eight hour system than it is now.

We have nothing to do with the question of what the laborer will do with his extra time. This is an age of liberty and I am sorry it is not also an age of justice. The laborer of to-day working ten hours is getting less wages than he still receive for four hours' work if the inflated values before referred to were eliminated from the selling price of land. As well might we ask whether the prisoner who had served his term would go off to drink himself to death and ... from that deprived him of his liberty as to expect the laborer to consent to work a greater number of hours a day for fear that with ... to have more leisure on his hands he would ... it in riotous dissipation. The eight hour system would employ a greater number of laborers, this would create in the labor market a demand that would raise wages, so that the laborer would certainly get for eight hours' work under the proposed system, as much as he now gets for ten hours, and having achieved a victory in his struggle for eight hours he might go on and demand six and even four, and his wages would not be a penny less than for ten hours work. The only possible result being that some of the corner lots, for instance in Portland, that are worth $100 000 would come down to $10 000 or thereabouts.

Certainly the president of the United States continues his work far into the night as "S. G." says, but the president who does it is an exception, and according to this fact we must not fail also to record the fact that very few of our laborers are travelling from Bar Harbor to Deer Park and from Deer Park to the Adirondacks in elegantly fitted up and sumptuously provided palace cars, furnished by railroads free to them. Comparisons between the hard lot of the president and the ordinary laborer are entirely out of place, unless you will allow that labor occasionally takes a month or two in a little outing at Saratoga bathing at Bar Harbor, or sight seeing in Europe and elsewhere. We cannot expect labor to be ever deceived as it has been with this idea that it must work a certain number of hours to keep itself alive. By this work it is merely sustaining the water now held by land, and the only possible sufferer by the inauguration of a shorter hour day will be the land gambler, not the capitalist, and certainly not the laborer and this is learning the lesson slowly but well and behind this eight hour movement is a deep seated sentiment that while railroads and telegraphs contain entirely too much water, yet all that is contained by the entire systems of our country is but a drop in the bucket compared with the amount of water represented by the selling price of corner lots in our cities.

THE CAPITAL OF WASHINGTON

OLYMPIA, Sept 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The kindly feeling of the citizens of Chehalis, Lewis county, towards Olympia as the capital as expressed by the correspondent of THE OREGONIAN in yesterday's issue, is fully appreciated by the citizens of this place and they anxiously hope for a large vote from Lewis county favoring Olympia as the capital. They, however, take exception to the idea that North Yakima is nearer the center of the state "than any of the other aspiring towns." Taking the exact measurement of the map of Washington, issued by the interior department, it will be seen that North Yakima and Olympia are exactly the same distance from the geographical center, namely, seventy two miles while Ellensburgh and Tacoma are each forty nine miles from the geographical center. If the capital must be in the center of the state it will have to be located near Mount Stuart, in the Cascade range, and yet such a position would be considered simply ridiculous, when it is remembered that the great commercial points are on Puget sound, where ocean steamers and sea going vessels receive and deposit their millions of tons of freight annually.

When we find twenty nine out of the thirty eight states locating their capitals, in some cases hundreds of miles from the center of their respective states it is hardly worth while finding fault with Olympia because she does not happen to be any nearer than seventy two miles from the geographical center, although she is situated in the very center of population, as evinced by the last census.

When the location of Albany, N. Y., Boston, Mass., Salem, Or., Augusta, Me., Sacramento, Cal., Des Moines, Ia., Harrisburg, Pa., Richmond, Va., and about twenty other state capitals, is taken into consideration, it will very easily be seen that Olympia is as near the center of the state as any that have been mentioned, and having had the honor of serving the territory faithfully for thirty six years, she now hopes to be made the permanent capital of the great state of Washington.

LEGITIME IN NEW YORK.

The Ex-President of Hayti Arrives in this Country—His Future Plans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Legitime, ex-president of Hayti, arrived this morning on the steamer Manhattan, accompanied by his family and several officers of his army. The party was transferred from the deck of the French man-of-war to the Manhattan at Santiago. As soon as the Manhattan made fast she was boarded by Consul General West of Hayti, and Preston, minister. The president looked tired and worn out. His eyes were bloodshot, and he would talk but little. He made a few remarks which were interpreted for the benefit of reporters. "My people called me and I came," he said. "They deposed me and I left, not because I was compelled to, but to avoid further bloodshed. Saturday I shall go to France, where I will remain a short time. I may return to Hayti as a private citizen, or I may go to Cienfuegos and establish myself in business."

IDEAL BROILING.
Broiling can be done in the oven of the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door, more perfectly than over the live coals.
Lay the steak, chops, ham or fish on a wire broiler or meat rack, placing it in an ordinary bake pan to catch the drippings.
Allow it to remain in the oven with the door closed 15 or 20 minutes. No turning is required. At the end of this time it will be found nicely cooked ready to serve. THIS IS THE IDEAL WAY TO BROIL MEATS.
There is no taint of coal-gas or smoke, and the meats are more tender and better in flavor than those broiled over the coals. The convenience of broiling in the oven will be appreciated by every house-keeper, and adds another to the many reasons why the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door should be preferred to all others now in the market.
